Glenn Jacobs, East Berlin R. 1, chairman of the Reading Twp. board of supervisors, was re-elected president of the Adams County Township Supervisors, Auditors, Assessors and Tax Collectors Association at the annual meeting of the group held Wednesday at the Court House. Jacobs was first elected president of the association in 1944.

Other officers re-elected were John R. Taylor, Aspers R. 1, vice president; Ervin J. Baker, East Berlin R. 2, secretary, and Mearl Heikes, East Berlin R. 1, treasurer. Named as delegates to the session of the state township supervisors association were President Jacobs, Monroe Nell, Straban Twp., and Frank E. Miller, Franklin Twp. Selected as alternate delegates were F. H. Brame, Conecango Twp., and Treasurer Heikes.

The supervisors, auditors, assessors and tax collectors recommended, in a resolution passed at the meeting, that the state set up a department of local government headed by a secretary of cabinet rank to simplify their job of working with the state.

Want More Money

According to discussion at the meeting prior to passage of the resolution, the townships now have to "deal with a half dozen or more departments," make reports to at least three state departments, and sometimes find overlapping authority between departments puts them on a "merry-go-round at Harrisburg." They suggested one department to handle all matters concerning township governments as a remedy for the situation.

Another resolution urged that gross fund appropriations under Act 15, providing matching funds for township road construction, be increased and suggested that, if the state wishes to change the formula under which the money is given to the townships, be "only feasible, practical and tested formula" be based on one-third area, one-third population, and one-third mileage.

Another resolution asked the 1953 legislature "to consider a fair change in the legislature to provide that all annexations of parts of townships shall be made after a vote of approval by the voters of the entire township." At present any section of any township can be annexed to a neighboring borough if the people residing in the particular section desire.

Motley Crew Tells Court Of New Piracy On High Seas

TANGIER, International Zone, Morocco (AP)—An international procession of unshaven sailors, Dutch skippers and hard-bitten adventurers thronged an American Consular Court today to continue the recital of a strange tale of modern piracy on the high seas.

This time, however, machineguns were the weapons instead of cutlasses. American cigarettes were the booty, not gold from the Spanish Main.

Two Americans living in Morocco, Elliott Burt Forrest of New York and Sidney Paley, 32, of Jersey City, N. J., a Tangier nylon manufacturer, are alleged to have played key roles in the hijacking of 100,000 worth of smokes from the 300-ton Dutch motorship Comblatin on Oct. 4.

Improvised Courtroom

Testimony is being heard by Consular Judge Milton J. Helmick and two civilian assessors in an improvised courtroom—the small dining room of the American Consulate here. Neal Ruge of Los Altos, Calif., is heading the prosecution.

Paley is charged with aiding in drawing up the plans for the attack on the Comblatin and of aiding and abetting in the piracy. He is not charged with participating in the actual attack.

Testimony yesterday named Forrest, a nightclub operator and cigarette trader, as the leader of the attack. He is a fugitive, last

ESTIMATE 105 DEER SLAIN IN THIS COUNTY

The big game season came to an end Wednesday with Adams County hunters accounting it one of their most successful so far.

Hunters took approximately 80 antlered deer off the mountains and plains of the county and added about 35 doe to their kill, about three times the dozen antlerless deer reported last year. The number of bucks is about double the '51 figure.

Despite the larger number of doe killed, the number of hunters roaming the mountains and fields for the animals was far less than the 750 who obtained licenses for the three-day antlerless season.

Game Warden Leo Bushman estimated the number of hunters during the last three days at about one-third the total number licensed. Many hunters, he said, told him they took licenses to "protect the doe," stating they had no desire to hunt the animals, but wanted to prevent others from shooting the female deer and spike bucks.

Most Kills In Mountain

Bushman added that most of the kills reported were "back in the mountains," rather than on the lowlands, where large numbers of deer have congregated in the last few years. One reason, he said, was that a large number of farmers have posted their land against hunting. In many instances farmers said they posted the lands because of fear of the high-powered rifles which can kill at a mile or more.

Thinning of the herds residing on the lowlands, particularly near Gettysburg, may be of value, it was added, because they are becoming a danger to motorists. Saturday three deer were hit crossing roads within five miles of Gettysburg and Wednesday another deer was killed by a car while crossing the Emmitsburg Road.

Few violations were reported during the three days, other than several for carrying loaded rifles in cars.

CAR WRECKED; TWO INJURED

Two motorists were injured at 10:20 o'clock Wednesday night when their automobile left the road on the Lincoln Highway five miles east of Gettysburg, ran down a small embankment and struck a pole.

State police of the Gettysburg substation, who investigated the accident, said the car was being operated by Ray H. Miller, 16, of Littlestown. With him was Vernon T. Clem, also 16, of Rocky Ridge, Md.

Miller suffered contusions of the chest and shock, and Clem suffered shock and bruises, police said. Both were treated by Dr. Wilbur H. Miller, New Oxford.

Police said Miller was driving east in a line of traffic, with other automobiles traveling in both directions. Cars ahead of him slowed down, police said, and Miller drove to the right, losing control of his car.

The vehicle, registered in the name of Minnie Miller, was demolished, police said, with a loss estimated at $1,500.

REDS BROADCAST THREAT TO SPEND XMAS IN SEOUL

SEOUL (AP)—Chinese Reds are bombarding Allied lines with threats that they're going to spend Christmas in Seoul.

The Communists have hauled loudspeakers up to the front to broadcast Christmas carols, surrender appeals and threats.

High-flying Red planes have circled overhead for two days, dropping pamphlets urging U.N. troops to "Go home." The planes have made no attempt to bomb or strafe Allied positions.

The threats are broadcast in English, French and Korean. The carols apparently come from old phonograph records made by Bing Crosby, Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald.

2-WAY RADIO IS INSTALLED IN POLICE CAR

Gettysburg's police car now has two-way radio service, with the radio intended for use in connection with Civil Defense or in regular police and fire work.

The set was installed today by RCA engineers as part of the Civil Defense radio communications network being established through the fire companies of the county.

Civil Defense Coordinator William G. Weaver said decision to place the set in the police car came when it was discovered that a 12-volt system originally planned for a Gettysburg fire truck will have to be used on the Kingsdale fire truck.

As a result a six-volt set remained unused. Since the six-volt radio could not be used on the Gettysburg fire truck, and since five of the Gettysburg fire trucks already have two-way radio installations, it was decided to place the six-volt set in the police car.

The police car, which will be worked into the fire and civil defense program as a patrol car, Weaver said, will be more valuable to both than the ladder truck for which the radio had first been contemplated. The ladder truck has no pump, and in use would ordinarily be accompanied by a pumper, with radio. Pumps in the Gettysburg Fire Department were equipped with two-way radios prior to the Civil Defense program at the expense of the local fire department.

Kingsdale was to receive its radio today, the last to be installed. The installation will bring to 36 the number of two-way radios installed in fire trucks throughout the county. A test of the network is scheduled for tonight following the Civil Defense meeting at the Court House.

Christmas Play On WGET December 25

"Christmas Lane," an original radio program with Pat O'Brien as the star, will be broadcast by WGET from 2 to 2:30 p.m. December 25, sponsored by Tobey's.

The play is the story of an Irish policeman who tries to secure a playground for the children in a run-down tenement district. O'Brien takes the part of the policeman, supported by Truman Bradley, network announcer, and a talented Hollywood cast. David Rose, conductor and composer, supplies the music.

SENDS 10-DAY NOTICE

Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder today sent a ten-day notice to Randall Graham, Phillipsburg, Pa., on a stop sign violation charge filed by state police of the Gettysburg substation.

EXPECT CROWD FOR C-D MEET

Widespread interest in the Civil Defense meeting in the Court House tonight at which Richard Gerstell, state director, will be the principal speaker, indicates that the large court room may be filled to capacity, William G. Weaver, county director said today.

Mr. Weaver said the county commissioners, a large number of borough and township officials, and representatives of fire companies, utilities, hotels and tourist cabins, restaurants, schools and colleges and fraternal groups had signified that they will attend.

The meeting will open at 7:30 p.m. In addition to Mr. Gerstell's talk, a movie on "Self-Preservation in Atomic Attack" will be shown, and plans will be discussed for organizing Civil Defense agencies not yet functioning in the county.

Mr. Weaver stressed today that all interested persons are invited. A demonstration of the new county short wave radio communications system will be given at the Gettysburg fire engine house after the meeting. The Fire Chiefs Association will meet at the engine house.

COUPLE LICENSED

A marriage license has been issued at the Court House to Robert Eugene Hottel, 135 Carlisle St., son of Marshall Eugene Hottel, Calvary, Va., and Lois Ann Holtz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles William Holtz, 17 Fifth St.

Was Refused Aid

Since he broke with the Soviets, Bogolepov testified, three foundations and three universities have refused his requests for aid. He voiced belief the refusals were prompted by Communists he helped to infiltrate in these organizations.

Communists in foundations and the government, he added, are barring hundreds of anti-Russian intellectuals from entering this country to "help the American people fight communism."

Bogolepov said he came to the United States last April under a one-year visitor's visa to testify before a Senate internal security subcommittee.

4 YOUTHS ADMIT BURNING SCHOOL BUS SHELTER

Two Maryland youths Wednesday afternoon signed pleas of guilty before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore to charges that they, with two Maryland juveniles, set fire to and burned a school bus stop shelter three miles southeast of Fairfield on October 30. The juveniles have been certified to juvenile court.

David Glass, 20, and Robert Anthony Brawner, 18, both of Emmitsburg R. 2, pleaded guilty before Justice Basehore to charges of malicious mischief by burning, and posted $500 bail each for the next term of Adams County Court.

The four are charged with dragging the bus stop shelter into the intersection of Legislative Routes 01001 and 01052, between 1:30 and 2 a.m., and setting fire to it by stuffing papers beneath the tarpaper roof and lighting them.

Road Is Damaged

The resultant blaze attracted the attention of Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Kugler, whose home is located nearby. They threw water on the burning building, but it "burned to a crisp," state police said. Part of the macadam road beneath the shelter was also damaged, police said.

The shelter was the property of the Fairfield Joint School System. Police made an investigation at the request of juvenile officials. Justice Basehore said Glass and Brawner surrendered and appeared voluntarily before him Wednesday afternoon.

The shelter was valued, according to state police, at $100.

TITO'S BREAK WITH VATICAN CAUSES WORRY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Marshal Tito's break with the Vatican aroused fresh worry here today over the weak link in the chain of anti-Soviet nations in Europe—relations between Communist Yugoslavia and Catholic Italy.

The American government's concern with the situation arises from its desire, as a matter of major policy, to establish the closest political and military co-operation among all the European countries, in and out of the North Atlantic Alliance, in the interest of checking Soviet power.

Tito's diplomatic break with the Vatican yesterday probably will make it more difficult to achieve this aim in two regards: (1) tying Yugoslavia closer to the Western European nations, and (2) trying to solve the Italian-Yugoslav dispute over Trieste.

Trouble With Congress
Furthermore, some officials think there may be difficulties with Congress, where the anti-Soviet Communist government of Yugoslavia has always been regarded with skepticism by many members.

Tito broke with Russia in mid-1948. Since that time the U. S. has tightened its relations with him and provided substantial military and economic assistance.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30 the U. S. and Britain and France together provided Tito with 120 million dollars, this year their help totals 99 million. In both years the American share has been 78 million.

The Truman administration has regarded Yugoslavia as a great asset to the West because (1) it is a living example of the ability of a satellite nation to break with Moscow and survive, and (2) Tito's 30-odd divisions, though they have been badly in need of modernization, are a valuable addition to anti-Soviet strength.

FUMES FATAL TO FREDERICK MAN

An overnight drinking party in a Middle Valley garage, Frederick, resulted in death for a colored man by carbon monoxide poisoning, Monday, and hospitalization of his woman companion.

William C. Brooks, about 45, owner of the death car and resident of Frederick, had apparently been dead about 15 hours when found, the county medical examiner estimated.

Evelyn Blackston, Frederick, was taken to Frederick Memorial Hospital about 5:15 p.m. by police, to recover from after effects of heavy drinking and fumes from an automobile exhaust. Her condition was not considered serious. She was conscious when aroused by police and taken to the hospital.

She said she and Brooks had driven into the private garage some time after midnight, Sunday. They engaged in a drinking bout and the woman said she went to sleep. She added she awakened several times and tried to arouse her male companion, "but I thought he had passed out," when he did not respond.

Police said the ignition key of the automobile was turned on and the gas-tank of the car was dry. Brooks' survivors include two children, William Columbus Jr., and Charles Brooks, both of York, Pa., sisters, Rev. Mrs. Eliza Wiggins and Mrs. Bertha Fletcher, both of Frederick, Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Baltimore, brothers, Joseph Brook, Frederick and Russell Jackson, Gettysburg.

Funeral services were held from a Frederick funeral home this afternoon at 2 o'clock in charge of Rev. W. I. Snowden, Intervener in Mt. Zion Cemetery, Knoxville.

France To Draft Yanks For Service

PARIS (AP) — The French National Assembly voted last night to draft into France's army Americans of conscription age living here more than a year, either in one stay or on several visits.

The draft age in France is 18½ to 25 years.

The assembly passed the bill without a debate. Raymond Tribolet, speaking for the National Defense Committee, frankly said the action was being taken for reciprocity "of the worst kind" for U. S. laws which make Frenchmen living in the United States subject to American military service.

Tribolet expressed regret that negotiations for a treaty granting reciprocal treatment to nationals of the two countries had not succeeded.

Newcomb was found slumped in the driver's seat last night by Pvt. Edward Herbst of the Pennsylvania state police. Herbst, on a regular tour of the toll road saw Newcomb's truck parked in the middle of the road and stopped to investigate.

John L. Groh, Lebanon County coroner, said an autopsy would be conducted to determine the cause of death. He believed Newcomb suffered a heart attack and stopped the truck before dying.

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization meeting was expected to be held after a projected meeting of U. S. President-elect Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain in Washington.

U.N. SEEKING PEACE TALKS ON PALESTINE

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly pushed today toward a formal appeal for direct Arab-Israeli peace talks on Palestine. The Assembly last night adopted a resolution urging similar face-to-face negotiations between France and her independence-seeking protectorate of Tunisia.

Delegates hoped to reach a vote soon after the opening of today's Assembly session on a resolution urging Israel and her Arab neighbors to settle their four-year-old feud over the Holy Land in direct meetings as quickly as possible.

A leading Arab spokesman, Mohammed Fadil al-Jamali of Iraq, asked, however, that a full debate on the Palestine question be held on the plenary meeting before the 60-nation body votes on the resolution already approved by the Assembly's special Political Committee.

Want Demands Met

The Arabs already have served notice they will ignore the resolution unless Israel meets their demands for the resettlement of—or compensation to—some 400,000 Arab refugees who fled their Palestine homes during the Holy Land war of 1948.

The debate in the special Political Committee saw the same uncompro-mising bitterness from the two opposing sides that has marked all discussions since a tense U. N. and Jews still are technically in a state of war.

The committee adopted by a vote of 32 to 13 with 13 abstentions an eight-power resolution urging the Jews and Arabs "to enter at an early date, without prejudice to their respective rights and claims, into direct negotiations for the establishment of such a settlement, bearing in mind the resolutions as well as the principal objectives of the United Nations on the Palestine question, including the religious interests of third parties."

The Arabs said repeatedly that such urging would be of little value because, they charged, the Israeli government has ignored past U. N. resolutions regarding the internationalization of Jerusalem, the settlement of the Arab refugee problem and the final mapping of frontiers.

CANCER GROUP TO SEEK $4,000

A goal of $4,000 was set for the annual cancer drive at a meeting of the fund campaign committee of the Adams County unit of the American Cancer Society held Wednesday evening at the law offices of Swope, Brown and Swope.

John A. Hauser and John MacPhail are co-chairmen of the county-wide fund drive scheduled to be held from April 1 to 15. Members of the committee plan a "lights on" night on April 1, to begin the two-weeks' solicitation for funds.

Chairmen will be named for each community in the county, and canvassers selected by the various chairmen to make the door-to-door calls. On the "Lights-On-Night" April 1, persons wishing to donate to the cancer fund are asked to turn on their porch lights so canvassers can readily determine where to call for donations.

Last year the cancer society raised more than $4,000. The goal was again set at $4,000.

Members of the fund drive committee include, besides the co-chairmen: Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, Dr. Roy W. Gifford, Arnold E. Orner, Charles E. Weaver and Mrs. David Blocher.

HARRISBURG (AP) — The State CIO Council today adopted a legislative program supporting legalized horse race betting for the first time.

"There is no good reason," said President Harry Boyer, "why profits derived from such betting by the people of Pennsylvania in other states should not be taxable here and thereby provide additional revenue to operate this state."

The airman of the base has collected $5,000 to buy gifts for the children.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The White-marsh Township Zoning Board announced today it will fight the plan of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission to run the Eastern Extension of the toll highway through Ft. Washington Park.

SOME POPULAR MEATS DROP BUT EGG PRICES RISE

By The Associated Press
Retail prices of several popular cuts of meat declined this week in many stores. But eggs were up sharply and most of the tender fresh vegetables worked higher.

Sample reductions noted in a spot check of chain stores and major independents, compared with last week: Sirloin steak off 10 cents a pound, rib roasts off 6 to 8, chuck roast or steak off as much as 10, leg of lamb off 4 to 6, frying chickens off 4 to 8 cents.

The above items were among the frequently listed meat shopping specials for this week. Others included: Lamb shoulder roasts, top and bottom round roasts, various pork loin roasts, fresh or cooked hams, bacon and turkeys.

Turkey Prices May Rise

A note on turkey prices for Christmas: So many holiday gobblers were consumed at Thanksgiving-time that you may have to pay a little more next week than you did in November. It probably won't be more than a couple of cents a pound in most places, the wholesalers say — and the stores may well trim off the difference in a competitive scramble for big volume Yuletide trade.

Egg prices, after declining irregularly for about a month, bounced back 4 to 10 cents a dozen in most markets compared with last week-end.

Butter eased a couple of cents a pound in some stores, but in many highly-competitive markets retail butter prices were about as low as they could get under the government price-support program. Production was unseasonably heavy and stocks on hand unusually large.

Weather Affects Prices

The price trend in fresh vegetables was upward chiefly because of unfavorable growing weather in the South. Market reporters ascribed the price movements more to market sentiment than to actual crop damage or delays, but nevertheless a long list of produce edged higher, including: Snap beans, beets, brussels sprouts, cucumbers, eggplant, peppers, radishes, spinach, squash and sweet potatoes.

Best lettuce and tomatoes moved higher, also, but these were offered in a wide range of quality and price. Onions, potatoes, carrots, celery and artichokes were a shade lower.

Tangerines and grapes worked slightly higher but were still in the reasonable class. Navel oranges and pears were a little lower, other fruits about unchanged.

3 CHILDREN PERISH IN FIRE

TRENTON, N. J. (AP) — Racing flames swept through a small frame home in nearby Hamilton Township last night, burning to death three small children.

The victims were Samuel Robinson, Jr., 4, and his two sisters, Jacqueline, 2, and Rosemary, 4 months.

The grief-stricken mother told police she had gone into the back yard for a moment, and suddenly noticed flames and smoke shooting from the two-room, one-story house.

Rescue attempts were made impossible because of the quick-spreading flames. Cause of the blaze was not determined. However, Fire Chief Charles Sherman of the Rustling Hose Co. said he noted that an oil-fired space heater was in operation in the house at the time.

A note of irony was injected into the tragedy. When the blaze broke out the children's father, Samuel, Sr., 26, was at work in a factory where fire hose is made in nearby Lawrence Township.

Identifies Cop As 1 Of Three Robbers

BUTLER, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Craig Saul, wife of a coal operator robbed of $115,000 in cash and bonds, has identified a North Bradock policeman as one of the three robbers.

The trial of the officer, Fred Burdell, entered its second day today after Mrs. Saul pointed out the patrolman as the man who hit her while a companion looted the family's safe in their Butler home. Burdell is charged with robbery and aggravated assault. He is the only man arrested in the robbery.

Mrs. Saul, mother of nine, said two of the robbers drew guns while the third went to the safe. When Mrs. Saul struggled with the men, she testified, Burdell hit her on the head and another man struck her in the face with a gun.

Undefeated Bullets Defeat Albright 77-71 For Fourth Victory; Snyder, Lang Star

Gettysburg College's first venture on a foreign basketball court was a successful one Wednesday as the undefeated Bullets ran their streak to four in a row by defeating Albright 77-71 in the Lions' new gymnasium at Reading.

The Bullets trailed at the end of the first period 21-14 but led by Bill Snyder, who netted 20 points during the evening, swept ahead 35-32 at half time and then battled nip and tuck with the Lions the remainder of the way.

Bill Spaid connected for four goals and a foul to pace Albright to its first period margin. The Bullets points came via a pair of goals each by Joe Lang and Dale Kleinfelter, a goal and foul by Bob Pizolato, goal by Jack Keller and a free toss by Johnny Habeeb.

Snyder Leads Assault
Snyder took charge of the heavy scoring for Gettysburg in the second frame and was good for an even dozen points on five goals and a pair of fouls. Lang came through with a goal, Kleinfelter another while Habeeb netted four fouls and Tom Ferren one. The Bullets completely dominated play during the round and limited the Lions to five goals, two by Schiavo.

Each team was good for 20 points in the third quarter. Snyder and Lang each accounting for six to spark the Orange and Blue. Connie Dettling, high man for Albright with 20 points, landed four double-deckers during the round which ended with Gettysburg in front 55-52.

Pizolato, who had been pretty well bottled up in the first three frames, broke loose for four goals and a foul in the final quarter. Lang added two tosses from the field with Snyder, Keller and Habeeb each swishing one. Dettling's seven fouls and single goal kept Albright in the running until the final moments.

The Bullets will go after their fifth straight here Friday evening when the strong University of Virginia will furnish the opposition.

FRONT OFFICE SHOWDOWN FOR INDIANS TODAY

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Indians hold an unscheduled contest in the winter today—but it is in the front office, not on the diamond.

This is the day the team's stockholders—the people who own the team—choose up sides on the quarrel between president Ellis Ryan and his other officers over how to run the baseball club.

Most of the club's stockholders were to meet in Municipal Stadium, to get a first hand look at Ryan's three-year record.

Hope For Ouster
The special meeting was called by opponents of Ryan in the hope that a showdown vote would result in a new board of directors strong enough to fire him from his job. Donald W. Hornbeck, the club's secretary and a director, is the spokesman for this group. He thinks this can be done.

Ryan and the five directors supporting him believe they wield enough support for a vote of confidence.

On the other hand, a number of people on both sides said the vote may be so close that nothing will be decided finally today. That would leave the board as it is—six directors for Ryan, six against him.

In that case, the fight might continue until the regular annual stockholders meeting Sept. 12.

Minnie Minoso of the White Sox won the base stealing championship in the American League with 22—but was also caught stealing the most times, 16.

VIRGINIA FIVE TESTS BULLETS FRIDAY NIGHT

A rangy University of Virginia basketball team from Charlottesville, Va., invades the Gettysburg College gymnasium Friday evening at 8 o'clock to engage Coach "Hen" Bream's Bullet dribblers.

The Cavaliers will average well over the six-foot mark. They employ a zone defense.

There will be plenty of seating space for the public inasmuch as the student body will not be present because of the Christmas holiday vacation which started Wednesday noon.

Friday's game will be the first of a two-game northern trip for the Virginians. They will play Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster Saturday night. The Cavaliers defeated the strong Johns Hopkins outfit 80-56 at Baltimore Wednesday evening.

Tallest of the Virginia cagers is Charlie Gamble, 6-5, who is playing his second year as a center. Two other centers, Jack Caldwell and George Grattan, each go 6-4. Caldwell is in his third year as a varsity performer.

Leading Scorers
Dick Wilkinson, 6-2 guard, accounted for 70 points in the first three games of the season for Virginia. Lee Eskilsen, 6-1 forward, was second high for the same number of games with 53 and Dave Cooke, another 6-1 forward, accounted for 43.

The shortest man on Coach Evan Male's squad is John Dohner, 5-9 guard, who is captain of the Cavaliers. This is his third varsity campaign. He looped 23 points against Johns Hopkins. Despite a record of 3-3, the Virginia team ranks with one of the best to play here this season. In their opening game the Cavaliers lost a 71-61 decision to Maryland at College Park. Vanderbilt topped the Male-men 90-83 at Nashville. The initial triumph was a 101-61 verdict over Hampden-Sydney at Richmond. After losing 87-71 to William and Maryland at Charlottesville, the Cavaliers edged Virginia Military Institute 69-62 at Lexington.

CARDS SEEK TV REVENUE

NEW YORK (AP)—St. Louis owner Fred Saigh, slowly but surely, appears to be winning his determined battle to get a share of the television receipts from Cardinal games at other parks. The latest club about to accede to his demands are the Philadelphia Phillies.

As of the moment, only the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds have entered into video agreement with Saigh, whereby the invading team gets a piece of that money. But it is quite likely that the others will fall in line.

"I don't always agree with the things that Mr. Wrigley (Phil Wrigley, owner of the Cubs) proposes," said Bob Carpenter, owner of the Phils, "but I have discovered that he's invariably right."

Want 30 Per Cent
"Wrigley is way ahead of all of us in the matter of radio, television and promotional ideas. He knows more about those items, and how to use them, than any other baseball man. So I shouldn't be surprised if I follow suit." Meaning that the Phils, too, will share their video.

Saigh has agreed to take "only" 30 per cent of the television receipts from Cardinal games at Wrigley Field but is asking as high as 50 per cent from the New York Giants, Brooklyn Dodgers and Philadelphia Phils because "they get more out of their television rights than the Cubs." The Giants and Dodgers have refused even to discuss the matter with the Red-bird president whose steady refrain has been, "no cut, no television."

George Mikan of the Minneapolis Lakers in the NBA has been named State Chairman of the Crusade for Freedom Drive which started recently in Minnesota.

ROBINSON WILL NOT REPEAT HIS RACIAL CHARGE

NEW YORK (AP)—Jackie Robinson, who recently stated in a television interview that the New York Yankee front office was against the hiring of Negro players, will not make any such criticisms henceforth.

The brilliant Brooklyn second baseman will refrain from referring to the absence or presence of Negro ballplayers in the major leagues as long as he remains in baseball.

A suspicion that Robinson had been silenced on orders of higher-ups stemmed from Commissioner Ford Frick's reply to a question whether he had discussed the matter with Jackie.

"I prefer not to discuss the matter," answered Frick. "It has been handled."

Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh, not Stan Musial of the St. Louis Cardinals, was the highest salaried player in 1952, it is now revealed. The major leagues' home run king drew $90,000 last year, $10,000 more than Musial earned.

The $90,000 figure came to light when a Pirate spokesman, discussing the club, remarked:

"Kiner wasn't a $90,000 ball player last year and I think he knows it as well as we do. I have a hunch he's prepared to take a cut but I don't know whether he'll accept the full 25 per cent."

There will be no susterly program at the Philadelphia Phillies training camp in Clearwater, Fla., this spring. Manager Steve O'Neill told this writer in Phoenix, Ariz., last week that he planned to erase all the "don't" and "shall not" rules which were imposed upon the players by Eddie Sawyer, former Phil pilot, last year.

"The players will be allowed to bring their wives and families to camp," said the fatherly O'Neill. "They will be permitted to swim, play golf, cards, fish and relax on the beach if they wish. As a matter of fact, this is nothing new. I threw out the old rules the day I took over."

CANNERS TRIP SPRING GROVE

Biglerville High over-came an 8-3 first quarter deficit to defeat the Spring Grove basketballs 34-30 in a tight game on the Cannery's floor Wednesday evening.

The victory marked the second in three starts for Dick Allison's outfit. Friday evening the Cannery's will seek to avenge a 66-55 defeat at Shippensburg when the Greyhounds play at Biglerville.

At halftime Biglerville assumed a 16-14 lead over Spring Grove and clung to its small margin the remainder of the way. Hutton looped 13 points to lead the victors while Witman topped Spring Grove with 11.

The Biglerville reserves also won their second decision in three starts by taking the preliminary game 42-28.

Threatens Big Probe Of Pennhurst Death

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. John J. Yosko (D-Northampton) informed Gov. John S. Fine he would seek a legislative inquiry into the death of a Pennhurst State School patient "unless you conduct an impartial investigation of this case."

Yosko, a member of the Democratic minority of the Senate, referred in a letter to the governor of the death last Nov. 15 of Robert H. Byers, 29, of nearby Marysville, at the Chester County Institution for the Feeble Minded. Byers, father reported the body was bruised and cut.

Joseph G. McKeone, district attorney of Chester County, later reported state police detectives found no evidence that violence was applied to Byers had "a continuous pattern of self inflicted injuries."

Cleveland Blank Pittsburgh Hornets

By The Associated Press
There's no stopping the high-flying Cleveland Barons, especially goalie Johnny Bower.

Bower turned in his fifth shutout of the campaign last night as the Barons blanked the defending champion Pittsburgh Hornets 1-0 on the latter's home ice. Glen Sonmow scored the deciding goal in the second period.

The victory enabled Cleveland to increase its first place margin over the idle Hershey Bears to seven points.

In the only other league game, the St. Louis Flyers, with Buddy Boone turning the hat trick, edged the Buffalo Bisons 3-2 in overtime.

SCANDALS STILL HURT NATION'S COURT PROGRAM

By FRANK ECK
NEW YORK (AP)—College basketball had one of its lean years as was to be expected following the scandals of other campaigns.

Kentucky, annually a power under Coach Adolph Rupp, drew the ire of officials groups. First the Southeastern Conference suspended the Wildcats for one year for violating rules. Then the NCAA announced the school's sports would be placed on probation. When that happened Kentucky quit basketball for one year.

Three of its former stars, Dale Barnstable, Ralph Beard and Alex Groza, pleaded guilty to conspiring with gamblers to shave points in a 1949 Madison Square Garden game. Prison terms ranging from six months to 11 years were imposed on 11 college basketball game fixers. It brought to 13 the number imprisoned since the investigation began back in 1951.

Best teams in the nation were La Salle of Philadelphia and Kansas. La Salle turned back Dayton, 75-64, to win Madison Square Garden's National Invitation tournament while Kansas conquered St. John's of Brooklyn, 80-63, in the NCAA final. Each victor had outstanding men. Tom Gola, a freshman, stood out for La Salle while Clyde Lovellette, 6-9, excelled for the Jayhawkers. Lovellette went to the Olympics in Helsinki with members of his team and the Peoria Caterpillars. As the United States team they beat Russia 86-58, to win the Olympic cage crown.

Duquesne was the last major quintet to suffer a setback during the season. After 18 straight, the Dukes bowed to Villanova, 64-62, in overtime.

North-South Game Promoter Wants Friendship, Not War

By LYNN BRANNEN
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Meet Champ (Blue and Gray) Pickens, the man who refuses to concede the South lost the Civil War. He has made his idea pay dividends for 16 years.

Now balding and 75, he has broken most of the rules of sports promoting. Yet he hit the big time when he got the annual Gray all-star football game started back in 1938.

It's express purpose is to cement good will between the North and the South. This year's gesture of friendship is scheduled Dec. 27.

Friends will tell you that had Champ (that's his real name) been born a generation earlier there might never have been a war. He probably would have promoted a "grudge bowl" to settle the issues peacefully.

Certainly Champ would have liked to announce that Gen. Robert E. Lee would coach the Confederate all-stars and Gen. Ulysses S. Grant the Yankees.

Got Early Start
The gregarious promoter started promoting as a student at Alabama. He managed the 1896 Crimson Tide football team.

On leaving school he started promoting likely looking football players for his Alma Mater. He did that in his spare time while working with an advertising firm out of St. Louis.

In 1922 Pickens turned to politics. He "promoted" himself a seat in the State Legislature, representing his home county of Sumter.

One term as a law-maker was enough. He headed back to his first love then as part-time public relations man, scout, trainer, strategy-maker and recruiter at the University.

Champ once managed a troupe of ex-college greats, one team led by the famed "galloping ghost," Halold (Red) Grange of Illinois and the other by George Wilson, former halfback at Washington. He coached their tour through the South and on to the West

ARCHIE MOORE BEATS MAXIM TO TAKE CROWN

By ED WILKS
ST. LOUIS (AP)—Able Archie Moore, wearing his new light heavyweight crown at a jaunty tilt, now hurls a promise that carries a challenge to other hopefuls in his 175-pound class:

"I'm going to put some life into the division. Any contender who deserves a chance will get it from me."

That was one of the first statements made by the 36-year-old St. Louis Negro last night as the new world lightweight king. Only minutes before he had won a unanimous decision over Joey Maxim—a thoroughly beaten but astoundingly game ex-champion.

Moore Was Favorite
There wasn't much doubt about who would be wearing the crown at fight's end by the time the battering fists of Moore had mauled Joey for seven rounds.

Before the bout, Moore—who weighed 172½ to Maxim's 174½—was an 8-5 favorite, with the odds shifting to 12-5 at fight time.

Judge Fred Connell gave it to Moore, 87-63, and Judge Howard Hess saw it 82-68. Referee Harry Kessler alone had it surprisingly close. Repeatedly warning Moore to keep his punches up, but penalizing him only once, Kessler scored the fight 76-74.

Close To Knockout
The Associated Press card had it 87-63 for Moore.

The crowd of 12,610 fans that flocked to the arena—and paid a gross gate of $89,487 for a new St. Louis record—also shouted approval of the decision. After the seventh Moore just went through the formality of fighting the prescribed 15 rounds.

Particularly in the 10th did Moore assert his punching superiority. He leaped out of a crouch and landed a smashing right that sent the 30-year-old Maxim reeling into the ropes. Only Joey's ability to tie up his opponent kept him from suffering the second knockout of his 12-year career.

gain possession of the ball in the late stages of a game the National Basketball Rules Committee eliminated the optional shoot-or-out-of-bounds play. All fouls during the last three minutes are two shots and the fouled player must take his two shots. The committee also ruled that when a player misses his first foul shot during the first 37 minutes of any game he must take another foul shot.

GHS Alumni Seek Cage Candidates

Alumni of Gettysburg High School who desire to tryout for positions on the Alumni basketball team to oppose the Warrior varsity Tuesday evening, December 30, are asked to get in touch with Luther I. Sachs Jr., Locust Ave.

To be eligible a player is required to have graduated within the last five years and to have been a GHS varsity squad member. He is ineligible if he has been a member of a college varsity squad.

GHS AND YORK, UNBEATEN, IN FRIDAY CLASH

Two unbeaten basketball teams, Gettysburg and York High, clash Friday night on the York court in the headline of the scholastic program for that evening.

Coach George Forney's fast-stepping Warriors will be meeting their severest test to date in the Bearcats. York upended Hanover 57-51 at Hanover Tuesday night and previously scored out Baltimore City College 59-58.

The York quintet is moulded around three veterans from last year. Milt and Newt Brown and Willie Way. Perennially a power in the Central Pennsylvania League, York is expected to be a strong contender again this season.

The Warriors have turned in some fine basketball in turning back Hagerstown, Westminster and Delone and will have to be at their best if they hope to remain in the select ranks of the unbeaten.

In other games carded for Friday East Berlin, 0-4, will be host to Delone, 1-2; New Oxford, 0-4, will entertain Scotland at New Oxford; York Springs, 0-6, plays at Quincy; and Biglerville, 2-1, will meet Shippensburg on the Cannery's floor.

Today's Talk

ON BEING INTERESTING

Interesting people are those who have a well stored mind and who keep giving out from that treasure-house. An uninteresting person sees nothing interesting in anyone! We have to have something best and fine in ourselves in order to spy it quickly in others — and when we make this discovery in others there is an increase of interest on the part of all concerned.

The humblest worker, or the uneducated, often is most interesting.
I once had a worker about my home in the country who only had a very short period of schooling, but he was one of the most interesting of men, for he had good common sense, was always pleasant and inventive as a worker, and I was constantly learning something from him. Farmers attend a great school — the University of Nature. Many a one is far better educated than the one with a string of degrees tailed to him name!

Two friends of mine were once discussing a third man, and one of them said: "I would like that chap on my payroll — just to get those flashes of sense and inspiration that he seems never to lack."
The informed man is always interesting. The more we learn the more we like to lead others to learn. The interesting teacher is the one who creates the most interest in his students. I had a science teacher in college who was so interesting that he inspired us all—and at times, almost reverently.

Travelers are always interesting, to talk with whom is both a privilege and an opportunity. In a group of people, often the one most interesting is the one who remains silent! We learn from listeners.
People with many interests are never bored. They have something of interest to attract the ignorant as well as the well informed or highly educated.

The most interesting book, as well as human being, is that one that sparks the most in us that lies dormant. That person is a benefactor — a traveling benefactor! The most interesting friend is that one who can light the most lamps in our inner gallery of treasured thoughts.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk in the subject: "Our Debt to Birds."

THE TELEGRAMMAR
My heartfelt thanks rise to stammer
For Western Union's Telegrammar, Which tells succinctly what to say
For birth or feast or wedding day,
With hints like this reprinted here:
"May Easter fill your cup with cheer
And keep it brimful all the year."

I hope some good friend will remember
To send me this one for December.
I'd say beyond the slightest question
It is a wonderful suggestion.
This Christmas wire would thrill me through:
"With my best wishes, all for you,
A check for fifty dollars, too."

Henceforth when lost for words with glamor
I'll use the handy Telegrammar.
Morning and evening I'll peruse it.
Find the right sentiment and use it.
If it is in the book, I'll note it.
And aided by the one who wrote it—
At what it costs per word—I'll quote it.

BOTTLERS SAY NO COMPROMISE ON TAX PLANS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Declaring
"there never will be any compromise" the Keystone Bottlers Association today took a strong stand against any new tax on soft drinks.
Meeting with directors of the association, A. H. Confair, Williamsport, president, said the soft drink industry and all individuals and organizations associated with it would fight with every resource at their command any effort to re-enact a soft drink tax.

The 1951 General Assembly revoked a soft drink tax that had been passed in 1947 and extended in 1949.

"Utter Nonsense"
"Propaganda has been circulated to the effect that members of the General Assembly are considering re-enacting the soft drink tax at the rate of two cents a bottle," Confair said in a statement.

"Of course," he continued, "this is utter nonsense as no one in his right mind would contemplate taxing a package which sells to the retailer at between 80 cents and $1 at the rate of 48 cents.
Such a tax would be nothing short of confiscatory. The two cent tax talk is merely intended to get the industry and its friends to compromise on a one cent tax."

"There never will be any compromise as far as the bottlers, retailers and their employees are concerned."

Confair asked, "Why should anyone talk about singling out one of Pennsylvania's many industries to pay a punitive, discriminating tax?"

East Berlin

EAST BERLIN—Word has been received in East Berlin of the coming marriage of Herbert Bender Wolf, York, formerly of here, to Gladys Kirman Clever, also of York. The couple made application for a marriage license during the past week at York.

A former student of the local high school, Carroll Duane Hafer, Abbotstown, is receiving basic training at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, York, having recently enlisted for four years.

Another graduate of the local high school, Clifford Cornelius Barnes, class of 1952, and a son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford M. Barnes, who spent several months in basic training at Bainbridge, Md., arrived home on leave last week, and while here was married to Miss Phyllis Jean Becker, Hanover.

Mrs. Beatrice Fitzkee, teacher at Thomasville, who has been on a leave of absence because of her recent hospitalization, expects to return to teaching shortly after the holidays. She is recovering after an operation.

Victor Enchs Jr., near Thomas-ville, a former student at the local high school, was among of York county young men who recently entered the armed forces.

A number of persons from here are expected to meet at an inn in the Abbotstown area Saturday evening for a Christmas banquet for the Cum Christi class of Holtzschwamm Sunday School.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs.
Stuart Krone, near Dover, born November 26, has been named Dennis.
Mrs. Krone was formerly Miss Janet Gross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
George W. Gross, near Red Run church.

Local persons are assisting with preparations for the annual Christmas party of the Paradise Township Parent-Teachers association to be held Friday evening in St. John's Lutheran parish hall, Abbotstown.

The regular meeting of the Women's Circle of Holtzschwamm Reformed congregation was conducted gram by children of the Wellsville school, will take place at the school this evening at 7:30.

A capacity audience was at Red Mount EUB Church Sunday evening to attend the annual Christmas program entitled "The Heart of Christmas." The worship service was in charge of the Rev. Percy D.
Brown, pastor.

The Red Cross bloodmobile, expected to come to the Dillsburg area this week to obtain blood donors, will arrive here instead shortly after the holiday season. The Red Cross is urgently calling for blood donors to help the wounded in Korea and

A Bit Of History About Your Own Adams County

This is the 40th in a series of historical talks given over Radio Station WGET by Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, Adeline Sager professor of history at Gettysburg College, on some of the outstanding events and interesting episodes in the development of Adams County.

A continuation of our articles relative to the churches of Adams County brings us to early Methodism, and especially Rock Chapel, the only Methodist Church in the present Adams County prior to the War for Independence. I am indebted to Miss Margaret McMillan for much of the information given here.

The Methodist Church of today did not originate as a separate denomination of Christians, but was founded by John Wesley as a devotional society within the Church of England. Wesley was a priest in the Church of England, which communion he himself never left.

Movement Spreads
Before the American colonial period was over, however, Methodism was on its way to becoming a separate denomination, and not according to Wesley's desire.
The term "Methodist" was at first a term of scorn or reproach used by the enemies of those who lived according to strict rules of method.

The movement under Wesley arose because the religious atmosphere of the Church of England in the early 18th century was not congenial to the practice of personal piety. Undoubtedly Wesley, the leader of the movement, was influenced by ideas and practices which came over from Germany, where there was a Pietist movement in the Lutheran Church under Spener and Francke, and where the Moravians exhibited the same pietistic ideas and practices.

Chief emphasis came to be placed by the Methodists upon the overt conversion of the individual from a life of sin. So the main emphasis of the movement from the beginning was evangelistic, and revivalistic. The principal doctrines of orthodox Protestantism were adopted, with the Holy Scriptures being held as the only rule of faith and practice.

Modified Calvinism
The popular doctrinal emphasis among Methodists is a modified Calvinism, according to the teachings of Arminius, chief among which is the belief that man, in order to exercise true faith in God, must be regenerated by the Holy Spirit, which regeneration is the free gift of God. The authority in the church, as it came to be developed, was put in the conference, presided over by a bishop.
In Methodism, however, the bishops are in fact general superintendents rather than carriers of a superior spiritual grace, the "apostolic succession," as in the Roman or the Anglican Churches.

The first Methodist sermon preached in Pennsylvania is believed to have been given by Thomas Webb, a British officer who had been converted by the preaching of John Wesley.
This was in 1769. The next year two missionaries arrived in Philadelphia and one, Pilmoor, remained to serve a congregation which Webb had gathered. This congregation, numbering about 100 members, in 1769 purchased an unfinished church building on Fourth St., and established St. George's Church. This building still stands in Philadelphia, and is the oldest Methodist Church building in America, and a shrine of American Methodism.

Two Others Founded
It is likely that before this, as early as 1766, Methodists began to preach and hold classes in America. Aside from St. George's, two other early churches were founded.
Old St. John's in New York and lovely Lane Meeting House in Baltimore. St. John's also still stands as a shrine, but the Lane document:

"Not to be served until after Christmas."

Meeting House is only a memory, and the place where it stood is known to only a few.

The Methodist Episcopal Church was formally organized in 1784, after the colonies had become free of England, and after the Methodist leaders, ever opposing Wes-ley's desire, considered the future of this movement lay only through a separate existence, organized on a national scale. These facts have been given in order to show how close the beginnings of Methodism in general are to the beginnings of Methodism in Adams County. In the very beginning, Rock Chapel, not far from present Heidersburg, is our first point of interest.

Miss McMillan says: "The early history of Rock Chapel, that tradition says is one of the first, if not the very first of the Methodist churches built west of the Sus-hanna, is shrouded in the records of the beginnings of our country, and is so closely linked with tradition that it is impossible clearly to ascertain the facts."

"Asked God's Guidance"
"However, it is certain that about the year 1770, just four years after the beginning of preaching and forming classes by Methodists in America, a Methodist itinerant preacher was riding among the rocks and hills on the rough trail crossing our county from New Oxford to Carlisle. Night was coming on, misty and cold.
He was without food or shelter, and this man of God, felling anxious for the welfare of his horse and himself, laid the reins on the horse's neck, and asked God to direct him to a Christian home."

"The horse left the main road, entered a lane and in a short time stopped in front of a house that proved to be the home of a Methodist family. This may be only tradition, but one thing we do know.
Methodism had an early beginning in this vicinity. Itinerant Methodist preachers on horseback formed classes wherever they went.
The Word was preached with convincing power, souls were converted, men and women lived changed lives."

"The grandchildren of the founders of Rock Chapel were still living in 1887 when a celebration was held, and from the records made then, we have their statements that services were first held in the house and under the orchard trees of Peter Group, a place within sight of the spot where the walls of Rock Chapel were to rise."

"There the wonderful eloquence of Bishop Asbury was heard, and later Freeborn Garretson, Bishop Roberts and Amos Smith preached the Word. People came from great distances, houses in the neighborhood were opened to give shelter overnight, the fields provided pasture for the horses and many souls were converted.

Hard Work, Sacrifice
"There Methodists felt the need of a church, but no one had much money, and it meant hard work and sacrifice. Three families, those of Peter Group, William Sadler Sr. and a Mr. Swisher undertook the erection of a house of worship. The men gave of their means, worked and prayed. The women prayed and toiled. The wife of Peter Group spun the thread, paid for weaving of a web linen, and sold it and gave the price as her contribution to the Holy enterprise. This is only one instance. There are many others that are recorded only in God's Book of Remembrance, but it is typical of the spirit of these early Methodists."

"The site selected for the new church was on the Carlisle and New Oxford Rd., about one mile northwest of the present community of Heidersburg. The cornerstone of Rock Chapel was laid about 1773. For a while the work was stayed, and during the interval, its unfinished walls, without windows, doors or floor, served as a sheep fold, emblematic of its true relationship to the children of men."

"At last the house was finished.
It was a small, plain structure of stone, with gable end to the road, two doors on the southeast side, and a gallery across the end opposite the pulpit."

First Pastor Not Known
"It is not known who the first pastor was, but he came either from Carlisle or York, as these two towns were the centers of circuits for the earliest Methodist itinerants, and the Baltimore Conference appointed them each year when the yearly conferences were held."

"The first recorded mention of Rock Chapel, that is authentic, is in the minutes of the first Quarterly Conference of 1803, held in Carlisle. We quote: 'Rock Chapel is credited with $3.60.' The second quarterly meeting of that year was held at Rock Chapel and the Rock Chapel contribution of quarterly money was $6.45."

"In 1805 the circuit of which Rock Chapel was a part extended from Waynesboro to York, embracing all intermediate Methodist preaching places, about 40 in number."

ber. From later records, it is evident that most of these preaching places were small groups of Methodists, organized into classes, with one of their number appointed a class leader. They met weekly at the house of one of their number, and for the Sunday preaching they met in a larger place."

Practical, Economical

We have described the beginning and early development of Rock Chapel, the mother-center of Methodism in Adams County. We have also noted the existence of the peculiar feature of early Methodist organization, the class. This was one of the most practical features which any church devised to gather and hold small groups of people together for worship and spiritual improvement, especially in pioneer days, when the population was scant and it was difficult to get large numbers together for religious exercises.

It was also practical because it was economical. Notice, forty preaching points were under the direction of one circuit rider. This was one of the greatest reasons for the success of Methodism in the newer and less settled sections of the country in the early 19th century.

SIAMESE TWINS ARE SEPARATED BY SURGEONS; BOTH CRITICAL

CHICAGO (P)—In a history-making operation, surgeons yesterday completed the separation of 15-month-old Siamese twin boys who were joined at the heads.

The twins, several hours after the 12 hour and 40 minute operation, were reported in critical condition. This was regarded as natural for such dangerous and lengthy surgery.

The separation was the first successful one of its kind in medical history. In two previous attempts to cut apart babies joined at the heads, the patients died.

Won't Predict
No member of the medical team which participated in the operation would predict if the infant twins will be able to recover. Earlier doctors said the odds were against the twins' survival from the start but that the boys were "unbelievably hearty."

"The ultimate outcome of the operation is as yet unknown," said a spokesman for the Research and Educational Hospitals of the University of Illinois, where the operation was performed.

Stanley Olson, dean of the university's College of Medicine, said the twins still had a "long way to go" before their survival is assured.

Shock, Loss Of Blood
The most expert kind of post-operative and nursing care will be needed, Olson said, as the babies had been subjected to intense shock and had lost considerable blood. Surgeons watched over the twins throughout the night. They were taken from the operating room at 8:30 p.m. to the pediatric ward of the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute, a university unit, and placed in separate cribs.

The babies, their heads swathed in bandages, were placed under oxygen tents. A university spokesman said physicians plan to resume surgery today on the tiny patients, Roger Lee and Rodney Dee Brodie of Moline, Ill.

Wanted Normal Life
Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie, were in the hospital during the operation.

"I'm sure looks good to see them apart," said Brodie as the babies were returned to the pediatric ward.

Brodie, a farmer and meat cutter, and his wife, a former nurse, are the parents of four other children, all normal. Earlier, Brodie said he realized the great risk involved in the operation but "we wanted them to have a normal life."

SAWYER BACK FROM EUROPEAN TOUR ATTACKS SETUP ON AID

WASHINGTON (P)—Secretary of Commerce Sawyer says the United States has "too many people and too many agencies... doing too many things" in Western Europe, at the cost of waste and confusion.

This was the meat of a hard-swinging attack on U. S. aid administration in Europe which Sawyer, just back from a 10-country study in Europe, inserted into a report last night to President Truman.

Sawyer said personnel abroad can be cut sharply, and some agencies abolished.

He said he found Europe in better economic shape than he expected, and that "tremendous recovery" has taken place in countries receiving U. S. aid.

Europe can march on to prosperity, he said, if it does not lose faith in itself.

Sawyer undertook the study, ended early this month, at Truman's request. He took with him finance and trade officials from the Treasury and Commerce Department, and two businessmen. All joined him, he said, in the conclusions set forth in the report.

Sawyer did not disagree with the idea of extending the roughly 50 billion dollars in aid Western Europe has received since the war. He said it was "indispensable to the rebuilding of war-damaged economies and to stopping the spread of communism."

But he took vigorous exception to the administrative structure built up to hand out money, goods and advice. Furthermore, he said, the time has come for the U. S. to halt direct aid—with some exceptions, such as military aid and reduced economic help to Italy and Greece—in favor of long-term help in the form of private investment and increased trade.

IKE PUTS VEIL OF SECRECY ON HIS M'ARTHUR TALKS IN N. Y.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower cloaked in deep secrecy today the Korean War and world peace views outlined to him by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Aides said Eisenhower was studying ideas MacArthur set forth at their history-making conference yesterday, but they added that no detailed public account of what was discussed can be expected.

Eisenhower made ready, meanwhile, for a meeting today with a group of Republican leaders in the House of Representatives.

Meet At Dulles' House
The President-elect said the session is one of a series he will hold with the GOP high command in Congress to chart a legislative program to deal with inflation and other domestic and foreign problems.

A meeting with Senate Republican leaders probably will be held during the week between Christmas and New Year's day.

After yesterday's Eisenhower-MacArthur conference at the Manhattan home of John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, the two five-star generals told newsmen they had discussed the problem of winning peace in Korea and the rest of the world.

Dulles Sat In
The luncheon get-together at Dulles' four-story town house resulted from a MacArthur speech here Dec. 5. He said then there is "a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict."

Eisenhower, who had just completed a three-day inspection of the war zone in Korea in search of a formula, messaged MacArthur from aboard a cruiser in the Pacific that he would like to confer with him. MacArthur promptly accepted.

The meeting yesterday was arranged by Dulles, who also sat in.

Talked Over 2 Hours
When it was over, neither Eisenhower nor MacArthur said in their brief statements whether they were in agreement on a course to follow in Korea. Neither mentioned the "clear and definite solution" which MacArthur had talked about Dec. 5.

An Eisenhower aide said privately there was no doubt that MacArthur had set forth a plan. "After all," said the aide, "that was the whole purpose of the meeting."

The conference started a few minutes after 1 p.m., and Eisenhower and MacArthur left Dulles' home 2 hours and 15 minutes later.

Two Appointments
Selection of two men for posts in the Commerce Department were announced by Eisenhower yesterday.

The nominations were: Samuel Wagner Anderson of Washington, D. C., to be assistant secretary of commerce for international affairs; and Robert Blaine Murray Jr. of Harrisburg, Pa., as under-secretary for transportation.

Eisenhower said the choices were made after a series of conferences with Sinclair Weeks, whom he has named to be secretary of commerce.

In Los Angeles, Lloyd A. Mashburn, California state labor commissioner and veteran AFL lead-

Mr. and Mrs. James L. Myers and children, James Jr. and Melanie, moved early last week from the apartment over Mr. Myers' hardware store at the Square to their recently completed house on E. High St., extended.

Mrs. Goldie M. Bower has returned to her duties as local postmistress after spending more than a month in Calif., accompanied by her son, Edgar A. Bower. They visited at the homes of Mrs. Bower's daughters, Mrs. Vernon Ruthertford, Ventura, and Mrs. William Young, Redwood City, and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Alwine plan to make their home in Atlantic City, N. J., where they recently bought a property.

The two young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Felty, near Paradise Protectors, have returned home after minor operations at the Hanover Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Trimmer were hosts at their home this week at the Christmas party of the Friendship Circle class of Pines Lutheran Church, New Chester.

Miss Gloria Krug, who was graduated last spring from the local high school and enrolled later at West Chester State Teachers College, is expected home shortly for the Christmas holidays. Miss Krug was among West Chester students recently placed on the dean's list.

RESCUED AFTER CHILLY 28 HOURS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A man who clung to mangrove bushes in Angel Fish Creek 20 miles south of Miami for more than 28 hours during some of Florida's coldest weather was reported in "satisfactory" condition in Veterans Hospital today.

Fred Tytzer Jr., released from a hospital only two weeks ago with a badly burned hand, survived a night of 35-40 degree cold stripped to his undershorts.

The 38-year-old Navy veteran watched while a Coast Guard PBV and a helicopter flew overhead in search for him, but couldn't attract their attention. Finally, the Coast Guard abandoned the search and said he presumably had drowned.

Tytzer lost his balance and fell from the tugboat Logan about 1 a.m. Tuesday between Cape Florida and Cutter Bank. He was rescued late yesterday by Capt. Cleveland Knowles aboard his fishing vessel.

The annual amateur seniors' golf match play championship, originated 20 years ago at Sebring, Fla., will be played the week of March 15th at Ponce de Leon course, St. Augustine, Fla.

er, said yesterday he had accepted an offer of the post of assistant secretary of labor in the new Cabinet. Mashburn said Secretary of Labor-designate Martin P. Durkin had offered him the appointment a week ago and that he had held up acceptance until he could confer with Gov. Earl Warren. Mashburn said he had received no final word since telling Durkin he would accept the appointment.

Children of the Pines Lutheran Sunday School, New Chester, will be given their annual Christmas party Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Livingston are expected home this week after a Florida vacation. Women of the local 500 Club have decided to have no further meetings until after the close of holiday activities.

Mrs. Grace Steiner and Mrs.

Frank Higinbotham were hostesses Monday evening when Class No. 5 of St. Paul's Reformed Church conducted its annual Christmas party at the church rooms.

Another benefit for the Ambulance Fund during the week was the motion picture, "Boots Malone," shown to the public at the local theatre. The owners, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Snyder, presented the movie free to the public Tuesday evening, but a collection for the ambulance was taken up among the audience.

The annual program of Christmas exercises, music, etc., by children of the First Lutheran Sunday School is scheduled for Sunday

Another Christmas-time service scheduled by this congregation is to take place at 1 o'clock Christmas Eve with a candlelight service, entitled "The Light of Life." Services are open to the public.

REP. SIMPSON HEADS PA. UNIT

HARRISBURG (P) — Rep. Richard M. Simpson from Huntingdon and the 17th Pennsylvania Congressional District, has been re-elected chairman of the state's 23-member GOP delegation in the 83rd U. S. Congress.

Simpson, dean of the Keystone State delegation, has represented his South-Central Pennsylvania district since 1937. He was re-elected chairman Tuesday at a meeting of 16 members of the delegation.

Other officers elected were: Rep. Paul B. Dague, Downingtown, (32-nd), secretary; Rep. Leon H. Gavin Oil City, (19th), whip; and Rep. Samuel K. McConnell Jr., Wynnewood, (16th) representative to the Congressional Committee of the Republican National Committee. U. S. Sen. James H. Duff spoke to the delegation on cooperation with the new Republican administration of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower.

NEW PLUMBING CODE IS UNDER CONSIDERATION

NEW YORK, (P)—The New York

County grand jury has refused to indict for murder Elmer Schuer, 21-year-old convict who escaped from the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary.

The district attorney's office made the announcement Wednesday shortly before Schuer was to be sentenced in Bronx County Court on his plea of guilty to robbery and kidnapping charges.

Schuer was captured in a Manhattan flat last Sept. 21 after a furious gun battle which resulted in the deaths of a city detective and Schuer's jailbreak companions, the Nolen brothers, Ballard and Joseph.

The three escaped from the Pennsylvania prison Sept. 10 and left a trail of crimes behind them before the gun battle.

When Schuer was arrested his court-appointed attorney depicted him as a frightened and unwilling accomplice of the Nolens. Schuer said he was guilty of robbery and kidnapping charges but never fired a gun while with the brothers. Schuer had been serving a 13-year term at Lewisburg for bank robbery.

When you're making chicken soup, cool the bird in the broil for no longer than an hour. Then refrigerate chicken and broth separately. This method of storage is suggested because warm broth spoils quickly.

WAR DILEMMA MAY BEDEVIL NEW PRESIDENT

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP) — In the end Gen. Eisenhower may be bedeviled by the same dilemma which has frustrated President Truman: finding a way to end the Korean War.

It might be well for the American nervous system, now raw and twitching because of these seeming endlessness of the fighting, to adjust itself to the idea Eisenhower may not be able to produce a miracle.

After all, he promised none. He said he'd go to Korea, which he did, in search of an answer. When he returned, he didn't say he had found one although he would hardly tip off the enemy by saying much publicly, anyway.

Keep It For Themselves
Neither Gen. Eisenhower nor Gen. MacArthur has suggested he had any intention of talking with Truman about a solution.

But when Truman clouded up and rained all over both generals he probably dampened any notion either might have had about exchanging ideas with him.

So if Eisenhower and MacArthur came to any conclusion in their get-together yesterday it is something which both men probably will keep to themselves, insofar as Truman is concerned.

Must Wait Until Jan. 20
If that is a correct guess then the country will have to wait until after Eisenhower's inauguration Jan. 20 or any evidence that he has found any way at all to end the Korean War.

It seems clearly established that Eisenhower will hold firm to this government's present position: The Allies will not hand over to the Communists prisoners who don't want to go back to them.

On this point the armistice talks broke down. For whatever their reason, the Communists refused to budge and the fighting has continued.

Would Count Risks
And the fighting seems destined to continue unless they yield on the prisoner of war issue or are whipped into yielding on the battlefield by a new and tremendous allied offensive.

Before such an offensive could begin, Eisenhower would have to plan for it and consider the consequences, both in starting it and if it failed.

If it should fail after the loss of many lives—and a big offensive would cost more lives, for a while, anyway, than the present kind of fighting—Eisenhower would be criticized at home.

ASK RED CROSS TO BOOST BLOOD PROGRAM FOR '53 FIGHT VS. POLIO

NEW YORK — E. Roland Harriman, president of the American National Red Cross, during a press conference in the New York Chapter headquarters said the Red Cross has been called upon to undertake an immediate expansion of its participation in the National Blood Program to make available all the gamma globulin possible for the prevention of paralysis from poliomyelitis.

Experiments conducted over the past two years in Provo, Utah, Houston, Texas, and Sioux City, Iowa, under the auspices of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and as a part of their total research program have demonstrated the effectiveness of this treatment. The Red Cross provided the gamma globulin used in these experiments without cost.

The acceptance by the Red Cross of the request of the Office of Defense Mobilization to undertake this program places a vast new responsibility upon the Red Cross and in turn upon the American people. It takes approximately one pint of blood to make an average dose of gamma globulin as used for poliomyelitis. One injection protects a child for a period of one to five weeks following exposure. Mrs. Harriman said.

Turned To Red Cross

Experience indicates that polio may strike in epidemic proportions in a least 150 counties next summer and at least 2,000,000 children in those counties may be exposed to the disease. Since gamma globulin is also needed for the modification of measles and in the prevention of infectious hepatitis there will be a shortage of the serum at the height of the polio season.

After study by the National Research Council in collaboration with agencies and groups concerned with the problem, they recommended to the Office of Defense Mobilization that the maximum blood fractionation capacity of this country be put to work immediately in an effort to meet the minimal epidemic needs for poliomyelitis by the summer of 1953.

The request by the Office of Defense Mobilization to the Red Cross followed. No large quantities of gamma globulin are available. The total processing facilities of the country at present are limited but the processing laboratories have been asked to work at full capacity starting now. Even so, it is not anticipated that the laboratories will be able to produce the total quantity of gamma globulin needed for poliomyelitis in the epidemic areas during the summer of 1953. However, it is planned to continue maximum production in preparation of 1954.

Need 5,000,000 Pints Yearly
The Red Cross will not allocate or distribute the gamma globulin:

Since the amount of globulin needed will far exceed the expected supply, the Office of Defense Mobilization, has requested the National Research Council to consult with appropriate professional, industrial and governmental groups to determine allocation and distribution in time for the next polio season.

The Red Cross will furnish its total supply of gamma globulin to the allocation agency without charge for the product in keeping with the policy now governing Red Cross distribution of blood and blood products.

Over and above this new project, the Red Cross must continue to meet the day-by-day blood needs of civilian hospitals and of the Korean wounded and continue to build the nation's plasma reserve through the 61 blood centers operated by the Red Cross and the centers operated by the cooperating blood banks. In all, the Red Cross — and private blood banks cooperating with it — must collect blood at the rate of approximately five million pints a year if this total program is to be carried out successfully.

WRIGHTS MADE FAMOUS FLIGHT 49 YEARS AGO

DAYTON, O. — The Nation's newspapers gave little notice 49 years ago today to an event heralding a new age for the world.

The Wright brothers, Wilbur and Orville, from Dayton, O., flew the first heavier-than-air craft the day before at Kitty Hawk, N. C. It was a frail, wobbly plane.

Top aviation experts paid tribute to the two brothers at an anniversary dinner last night. They contrasted the Wright craft to the jets and helicopters of 1952 and of the years to come.

Four of the Nation's heroes shared honors with the brothers at the banquet.

They were Lt. Harold W. Moore, first man to fly the Atlantic Ocean in a helicopter; Col. Francis J. Gabreski, ace of the Korean and Second World Wars; Maj. Charles Yeager, first man to fly faster than sound, and Capt. J. Slade Nash, holder of the new world's aircraft speed record.

They heard Lt. Gen. E. W. Rowlings, head of the Air Materiel Command, say "it is up to us to insure that air supremacy lies with the free world in its struggle against Communist enslavement."

Awards by the Air Materiel Command went to AMC depots at Mobile, Ala., and Gadsden, Ala.

Yesterday morning ceremonies were held at the Wright brothers memorial at huge Wright-Patterson Air Force Base.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche proclaimed 1953, the golden anniversary of the first flight, "The Year of Aviation."

limits of trucks; retention of present weight limits of trucks, and establishment of a "weight-distance tax" on large trucks similar to the New York State law; amendment of the motor code to provide payment of all fines under the code to the municipality or township in which the arrest is made; legislation to provide for "adequate bonds of justices of the peace in Pennsylvania and monthly settlement of all fines by the justices; demanded "fully equality" with other levels of government in the state by being included "without restriction" in the provisions of Act 481 of 1947 as amended; asked an amendment to the existing law whereby permits for encroachments on township roads are issued by the state highway department, with the amendment providing that the township officials responsible for the roads be the only body allowed to issue such permits; endorsed the "principle of a common municipal code now under consideration by the Local Government Commission," and commended the Adams County commissioners for their method of dispensing county aid.

The "old days" of road building were recalled in a talk given by Charles Buckius, chief engineer of the state department of highways, following the dinner served the supervisors at St. James Lutheran Church, Buckius, who was one of the first employees of the highway department when it was established in 1906, recalled, "We didn't know how to build roads, because none of us ever had. The state hadn't build a single mile of highway, so we went to the road supervisors of the townships to find out how it was done."

He described earlier road building, and the changes that have come about in the past 47 years.

Supervisors Have Power
"Township governments in Pennsylvania have more power and are subject to less control than any similar officials in the country," H. A. "Cappy" Thomson, Upper Darby, secretary of the State Township Supervisors Association, told the group. "You are not just road supervisors, you are township supervisors, with all the powers of the council in borough. You must realize that you are responsible not only for the roads, but also for the health, welfare and general well-being of your township."

Thomson outlined the work of the auditors, pointing out that they have such duties as establishing the salaries for the supervisors, establishing the rate of pay to supervisors when they use their vehicles in connection with township road building as well as the regular auditing work. "And these duties must be carried out at the meeting January 6 before you begin the audit." Questioned by one township official concerning what should be done about an auditor who plans to go to Florida for the winter, Thomson answered, "Just remind him there is a $100 fine for failure to carry out one's duties as an auditor."

be done in a day or a night," Thomson added, "The auditors had better start checking exonerations of taxables a little more closely. Township officials can be surcharged for any loss of revenue by the township caused by his neglect, and some auditors might find themselves having to pay some day for unnecessary exonerations." In response to a question, he observed that "boards of supervisors could be surcharged for failure to accept matching funds from the state, or for similar failure to obtain other funds due to the township."

Reports Before March 1
He added that the secretaries of the boards of auditors must have their reports filed with the county clerk of courts, the department of highways, the department of Internal Affairs and the secretary of the board of supervisors of their townships by March 1.

If the secretary does not have the auditors' reports filed with those four authorities by March 1 he can be fined $5 for every day's delay thereafter. In addition secretaries must have the auditors' report ready for advertising in newspapers of general circulation in the townships by March 10.

He added that "the auditors watch every other township official and it's the duty of everyone to watch the auditors because the auditors represent the general public in checking the township accounts." In response to questions from a township auditor concerning what to do "if we don't believe the docket of our justice of peace shows all of the cases he has," Thomson said, "Check the state police, they keep a record of every case, and you as auditors can determine whether the justice is holding back." Asked what to do if a justice does not turn over his fines to the township treasurer or persists in "holding back" such payments, Thomson answered: "See the district attorney."

Chief Assessor William G. Weaver outlined the new assessment system in the county. When the time comes to change over to the new system the township officials, along with the borough council and schools will be asked to keep their budget the same as it was in the previous year, "so we can determine whether it is possible to lower our millage rates all around in order to get the same amount of income under the new assessment."

Warning that "an audit cannot

be done in a day or a night," Thomson added, "The auditors had better start checking exonerations of taxables a little more closely. Township officials can be surcharged for any loss of revenue by the township caused by his neglect, and some auditors might find themselves having to pay some day for unnecessary exonerations." In response to a question,

GOOD GROOMING TAUGHT EARLY GIVES RESULTS

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Beauty Editor

If you'd like to see your little girl grow up, practically overnight, treat her to a new hairdo. Often the magic wand between babyhood and young girlhood is a hairdresser's scissors.

Once your youngster's pigtails have fallen under the shears of the hair stylist, daughter will take a new attitude toward her grooming, particularly her topknot.

She'll care for a new hairbrush the way she used to care for her dolls. So it is a good idea, along with her new coiffure, to treat her to a brand new hairbrush.

Good grooming habits are best established during the formative years. The earlier the pattern is set the easier it is to continue. Attractive and easy-to-manage hair is the result of good health, cleanliness and careful grooming.

A brushing routine will particularly help the adolescent, the teenage girl whose skin and scalp are inclined to be oily. With good care this need cause no concern. Brushing the hair will aid in distributing oils evenly out to the tip ends for softness and lustre. It will remove, too, flaky particles of dried cuticle, sloughed off from the scalp.

Like Brushing Teeth

Starting young with Mother's help, a hundred strokes a night need be no more of a chore than brushing one's teeth.

The procedure is simple and consists of three basic steps: (1) preparing the hair and scalp; (2) brushing, and (3) smoothing the hair. The brush should be placed on its side against the scalp. Then with a half-twist of the wrist the bristles should be brought directly on the hair with a vibrating motion and swept out to the tip ends of the hair.

Step one. . . Start at the nape of the neck and brush upward, going all around the hairline with short, vibrating strokes until the scalp tingles. This stimulates circulation and removes dust and lint that may have accumulated at the hair line.

Step Two. . . Pick up the hair in small sections, brushing from the roots out to the hair ends with a short, vibrating motion. This brushing helps cleanse the scalp, freeing it of dry cuticle and dust, and distributes oil from the roots out to the tips.

Learn Right Way

Step Three. . . With gentle strokes, smooth hair into place.

It's simple for a boy to get a cowlick down with a little water. For a girl, brush ends down and upwards to make soft curls, or brush down in sweeping strokes to ready long hair for braiding.

When a child starts to brush her hair, she might as well learn to do it right so that with practice it will become a simple routine. A miniature version of Mother's roll-wave brush that is long enough to be easily handled, yet sturdy to do a thorough job, is available for little girls. Young boys will enjoy being proud owners of a club brush such as father uses, only in miniature.

All available men who participated in the first American Bowling Congress tournament in 1901 will be featured at the opening of the ABC's "Golden Jubilee" tourney at the Chicago Coliseum on Feb. 21, 1953.

Truman Says Air Power Must Go On

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman says American military airpower has made "startling technical advances" and should be pushed even more to keep Communists from "plunging the world into war."

The President said that only by such development "can we build up the power which is necessary to keep aggression and conquest" in check.

Truman's comments were made in an address last night at the Wright Memorial Dinner of the Aero Club of Washington honoring Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle for his services to aviation. It was attended by 1,400.

The President's Advisory Committee on Management, in a report to Truman, termed this arrangement "the greatest single enabling step toward management improvement in the federal government in this generation."

The 13-member advisory group, set up three years ago, is headed by Thomas A. Morgan, board chairman of the Sperry Gyroscope Company. In its final report to the President, the committee said that during the last fiscal year the government realized savings of some 36 million dollars as a result of suggestions from employees.

advance of any showing of their pictures by slide or movie projection, that it need not be stressed. Yet it is rarely done and fans need continual reminders. With the holiday season a time for increased home visits by family and friends, thereby bringing more frequent occasions for home showings, this is particularly appropriate.

Slide and movie projectors should be in tested working order for instant operation. The lens should be cleaned with lens tissue and dust and those wiggling "tree branches" brushed away from the film gate.

Slides should be in showing sequence, right side up and ready to project without fumbling or checking necessary. This will eliminate frequent stops and apologies when pictures show up reversed or upside down. Sometimes slides get bent a bit and will cause trouble by getting stuck during projector operation. More apologies while you fuss and tug and pull levers. Remove bent slides and remount the transparencies in a fresh amount in advance. It will save time and tempers in the long run. Home movie reels should be labelled so that you know what you want to show and in what order. . . and from the beginning! Yes there are shutterbugs who leave the rewinding to do "later" and then forget about it till the next showing. Equally embarrassing are the splices which came apart during the last run and which were to be redone. These are remembered when the picture dissolves in the full white glare of the projector light, at the break, revealing your red face.

From previous home showings, a photo fan undoubtedly has discovered which room to use, where the electric outlets are and where to place the screen for best viewing. However, if you are invited elsewhere, a preliminary, unobtrusive scouting expedition is a good idea before the showing is scheduled. After you decide on the best spot for projection machine and screen and find an available outlet, you should also focus the picture. Thus there'll be no false starts when you're "on."

LACKERS WORRY ABOUT AGING STAR PLAYERS

By JOHN KUNDLA
Coach, Minneapolis Lakers

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers enter the new National Basketball Association campaign as a marked team.

We were fortunate enough to recapture the championship last season and, in return, can expect all other teams in the league to be going all out to knock us from our perch.

Every team in the league has its problems. And the Lakers are no exception.

Our biggest worry this year will be age. Will George Mikan, who is 28, and Jim Pollard, now 30, be able to hold up another year? These two men are going into their sixth seasons with the Lakers and neither came to us fresh from college.

Last year, there was some question about Mikan and the new 12-foot lane. It slowed him up a bit—enough for him to lose the individual scoring championship to Paul Arizin of Philadelphia. However, with a season's experience, George should be able to make something of a comeback. This will be the telling year.

Skoog Question Mark

In addition to Mikan and Pollard, we have five and one-half other players returning from last year's squad. The half man is Whitey Skoog. He's a question mark right now. He was forced out of action midway through last season with a knee injury. The knee was operated on since that time, and now we will have to learn whether it will hold up.

On the credit side, we expect to be stronger than ever before at the guards with Slater Martin, Pep Saul and Bob Harrison returning.

We also believe Lew Hitch, a 6-8 center and forward beginning his second year with the Lakers, will be greatly improved this year. That will give us more reserve strength.

Six Are Rookies

Six rookies are now trying out for the team. From this bunch we hope to pick up three men. We especially need another guard and forward to relieve Pollard and Vern Mikkelsen.

The brightest prospects among the newcomers appear to be Jim Holstein, 6-3 guard from Cincinnati; Deward Dopson, 6-6 center from Arkansas Tech, and Mike O'Neil, 6-3 guard and forward from the Oakland Blue and Gold AAU team and the University of California.

If any of these rookies come through, the Lakers should have a stronger team this season. But we also expect every other club in the league to be tougher — especially Milwaukee and Baltimore.

Stamp News

By SYD KRONISH
The Associated Press

THE LATE Dr. Chaim Weizmann has been honored by Israel, "the land of his dreams," with a new postage stamp. A portrait of the famed scientist and first president of Israel appears on two new Israeli stamps. Both designs are the same. At the left of Weizmann's profile portrait on each adhesive is a religious symbol.

The 30-pruta stamp is grey and the 110-pruta is dark blue. These new stamps have been designed by Wind-Struck after a sketch by Errell of Tel Aviv.

TO CELEBRATE the 70th birthday of King Gustaf VI Adolf, Sweden has issued three new stamps. The 10-ore-plus-10 green, 25-ore-plus-10 red and 40-ore-plus-10 blue depict a side view portrait of the monarch. The surcharge of 10-ore on each stamp will go to a fund for Swedish culture.

BRAZIL has issued a new 60-centavo green and yellow stamp to honor the city planning and industrialization of Sao Paulo. Pictured on the stamp is a view of the city with a large compass trisecting the adhesive. Also issued by Brazil was a 60-c red brown stamp for Padre Diogo Antonio Feljo (1784-1843), noted statesman in early South American history.

IN THE NEWLY published Volume II of Scott's Standard Postage Stamp Catalogue (Europe, Asia and Africa) many changes have been made that will interest collectors. Nearly all the prices for the AMG Trieste overprints have been raised. The most extensive change in listings are in Baden, Bergedorf, Bremen and the other old German States.

PERU'S latest stamp pays tribute to its fishing industry. The new green adhesive pictures a fishing vessel. Below the main illustration are four drawings of fish caught in Peruvian waters. The fish depicted are: The bonito, tuna, sword and cojinova.

STAMP NOTES . . . Afghanistan has issued two new stamps of triangular design to honor the United Nations. The pink and the aqua marine stamps are identical. They show a world globe flanked by the letters "U.N." . . . There were 1,500,000 stamps sold on the first day sale of the Newspaper Boys commemorative postage stamp . . . The Belgian Congo has issued the third portion of its flower set. The six newest in the series have arrived in this country, reports the New York Stamp Co.

"MAMIE" RATED AS NUMBER ONE U. S. HOUSEWIFE

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Newsfeatures Writer

These traditional end-of-the-year selections of men and women don't have a category for the "housewife-of-the-year." But one Iowa-born woman has been quietly endowing that popular and frequently maligned occupation with grace, interest and glamor.

Her name is Mamie Geneva Doud Eisenhower. She is 56 years old, has been married to the same man for 36 years, is a mother and a grandmother and she's never wanted to shine except in the reflected light of her husband. She has never been interested in a career of her own, but she's possessed of professional skills as helpmeet and hostess to a man who will hold what is probably the most important position in the world: President of the United States.

Young Queen Elizabeth has spent a lifetime of training to equip her for the position she inherited early in 1952. Mamie Eisenhower, traveling at her husband's side through the years, has also received years of special training, all of which will be useful and important in the climax of her husband's career, the period to be spent in the White House.

Difficult Position
As the wife of a military career man, she has kept house all over the world, under conditions ranging from difficult to plush. She has entertained at functions as different as a simple afternoon card party and the most formal functions. She has learned to be an attractive guest in simple homes and palaces. She understands when to be self-effacing and when to stand up and permit the spotlight to play fiercely upon her. And all this takes a definite skill if it is to come off smoothly. Mamie Eisenhower has it.

Apparently the nation's next first lady is neither awed nor terrified in contemplating the next period in her life, to be spent in a fish-bowl. After all, the Eisenhowers have spent the last several years in the public eye and, as she admitted, they've both become accustomed to being ringed with security precautions.

Friends of long standing have remarked again and again that one thing that pleases them particularly about Mrs. Eisenhower is that the years and the glory haven't changed her a bit. She remains unpretentious, frank and — most important — herself. She has the gay smile, the informal word and the pleasant sense of humor with which she has back-stopped Ike on the sometimes rocky road from army lieutenant to five-star general and then commander-in-chief.

Accepts Gracefully
From long practice, she is able to accept gracefully presents, paeans of oratorical praise, cheers of multitudes. With poise and good humor she makes, short speeches of thanks — and sticks faithfully to an old preference to let her husband do all the speech-making. She has a definite philosophy about her life, and it involves two things: being flexible and never planning too far ahead. Her entire aim is to make life easier and more pleasant for her husband.

age middle-aged homemaker. She is primarily concerned with her administrative duties in making a home, is devoted to her grandchildren, and has every woman's vital interest in clothes. Fortunately, she also has a trim, youthful figure and clothes look very well on her. Also fortunately for her peace of mind, her well-defined and pleasant features take well in pictures — and, wherever she goes she is followed by a troupe of men with cameras.

By acting herself, Mamie Eisenhower has made herself a popular American figure. And, what's more, women like her. Possibly because it is easy to believe that she is acting in her position just as the average American housewife believes she herself would act if her husband were elected president. To do that, in itself, requires considerable skill. And Mamie Eisenhower has it.

VETERAN PRIEST DIES

COPLAY, Pa., (P)—Solemn Requiem Mass will be celebrated at St. Peter's Church Saturday for the Rev. Joseph J. Ostheimer, rector here for more than 25 years.

Father Ostheimer, 57, died at Villa St. Joseph in Darby, Pa., Monday after a long illness. He was a brother of the Rev. Dr. Anthony L. Ostheimer, editor of the Catholic Standard & Times.

FREE ON BAIL AFTER SENTENCE

BOSTON, (P)—Mrs. Mary A. Hooley, 37, mother of three, was free today pending appeal from a one-year sentence imposed on Tuesday for contempt of court in her refusal to answer questions before a grand jury hearing evidence in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery.

U. S. Judge William T. McCarthy continued her bail of $5,000 after he adjudged her guilty of impeding justice by refusing to tell the grand jury if she ever saw $70,000 in cash.

Mrs. Hooley's husband and her two brothers also were charged with contempt of court, as was a fifth person.

One of her brothers, Donald

O'Keefe, 39, a City of Boston street department employee, and John H. Carlson, 32, a convicted Boston bookie, were found guilty in previous court sessions and sentenced to nine and 18 months sentences, respectively. Both have appealed.

Is Brink's Suspect
The case of Mrs. Hooley's husband, Paul 39, was scheduled to come up soon followed by the contempt case of her brother, Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, 44, branded in open court as a suspect in the Brink's robbery.

O'Keefe was brought to Boston to testify before the grand jury from a Pennsylvania prison where he is doing time because he was caught with five guns and 150 rounds of ammunition six months after the Brink's stickup.

All five balked in answering questions dealing with the Jan. 17, 1950, robbery.

The grand jury heard more witnesses on Tuesday and later it was reported that two refused to answer questions and would be accused of contempt in presentments by the jury.

It is presumed that life began in the sea.

Steps Off Bus And Is Fatally Injured

CHESTER, Pa. (P)—A few seconds after he stepped off a bus, eight-year-old Richard Larkin of Chester was injured fatally.

The boy died Tuesday at Chester Hospital where he was taken in an ambulance. Police said the bus driver told them he started up his vehicle after the Larkin boy alighted three blocks from his home. The driver said he went about 40 feet when he felt a bump. He got out and saw the boy lying on the street.

The driver, Walter Hughes, 39, of Glen Terrace, Chester, was held in $2,000 bail pending action by a coroner's jury. He is employed by the Southern Pennsylvania Bus Co., which operates the bus for the Chester schools.

NATO DECLARES FRENCH FIGHT IS IMPORTANT

PARIS (AP)—The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has declared the French fight against the Communist-led Viet Minh in Indo China is as important to the West as the Korean War.

There was no indication that NATO was planning any collective action in Indo China. But a resolution passed at Wednesday Council of "Foreign Ministers declared that "resistance to direct or indirect aggression in any part of the world is an essential contribution to the common security of the free world."

The resolution added: "The resistance of the free nations in South-east Asia, as in Korea, is in the fullest harmony with the aims and ideals of the Atlantic community."

Want Material Support
Both French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman and Jean le Tourneau, minister for overseas territories, had appealed to the Western Allies for as much material and financial support as possible in the war against the Viet Minh.

The United States and Britain are aiding France—the U. S. with money and arms and Britain with naval support.

The council also heard British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden say the United States, Britain and France are still ready to meet with Russia to plan free all-German elections

No Final Red Reply
Eden recalled that Russia has made no final reply in the lengthy exchange this year over unification of Germany. In their latest note, the Western Powers said they wanted discussion limited to the issue of free all-German elections.

The ministers, who will end their meeting here tomorrow, also passed a resolution urging European nations to take quick action toward ratification of the treaty which would bring Western Germany's armed forces into the defense of non-Communist Europe.

The resolution was believed aimed chiefly at France and West Germany, where action toward ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty is lagging. Western Germany would contribute a half million men to a European Army under the treaty. This force would be available to NATO.

BOY, 3, KILLED IN TRUCK CRASH

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three-year-old Ronnie White dozed Wednesday in the cabin of his father's chicken truck as it sped here from Georgetown, Del.

His dreams were of a visit with Santa Claus in a few hours. He woke up as the truck rolled past the International Airport.

Suddenly there was a crack. The tie rod connecting the truck's steering column with the front wheels gave way. Ronnie's dad, John O. White Jr., 25, was helpless. He jammed on the brakes, the truck veered off the highway and went down an embankment turning over completely.

Ronnie was thrown from the cab in. When the truck stopped rolling, the dazed father clambered from the truck, searching for his son. He found Ronnie on the other side of the truck, unconscious.

A passing motorist and police eventually took the little boy to the hospital, where he died of a crushed chest.

Three Counties May Buy Water Company

CHESTER SPRINGS, Pa. (AP)—Commissioners of Delaware, Chester and Montgomery Counties today

had under consideration a recommendation that the three counties form an authority to purchase and operate the Philadelphia Suburban Water Co.

The recommendation, announced Tuesday, came from a special committee headed by Owen J. Roberts, former U. S. Supreme Court justice, following months of quiet study of the utility's operations. Suburban serves tens of thousands of customers in the three county area.

Truman Commission On Health Needs Comes Up With Middle Ground Plan

By FRANK E. CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (P) — President Truman's Commission on the Health Needs of the Nation came up today with a middle-ground proposal for solving one of the country's hottest issues—how to pay the doctor's bill.

The commission proposed 1 1/2 billion dollar annual outlay of federal and state funds to bolster voluntary insurance plans covering the costs of hospital and medical care for all the nation's people lacking full ability to pay.

The program would be administered chiefly by the states, which would match federal money dollar-for-dollar.

Called "Compulsory" It differs both from a plan unsuccessfully espoused by President Truman and a rival proposal of the American Medical Association.

In Chicago, the president of the AMA termed one aspect of the report "compulsory health insurance."

Dr. Louis H. Bauer of Hempstead, N. Y., said a major recommendation in the report provides that "The federal government, through payroll deductions, would pay directly for the medical care of a large segment of the population. This is compulsory health insurance."

AMA Withholds Comment The AMA said it would withhold comment on the full report pending "careful study" by a four-man committee.

President Truman, since 1945, has vainly plugged for a federal system of prepaid sickness insurance for wage-earning Americans and their families—to be financed by a compulsory tax on employees and employers, along the lines of the social security system.

The AMA has termed Truman's proposal "socialized medicine" and has campaigned for the extension of "voluntary" insurance plans—that is, plans which a person can purchase if he wishes. The AMA, however, has never taken a stand as to whether it favored federal subsidy of such plans.

Too Costly Now The commission, appointed in November of 1951 to assess the nation's health needs, and to make recommendations as it saw fit, collected some two million words of testimony from experts in various fields during hearings held in Washington—and close to another million words in hearings throughout the country.

One of its main findings was that "despite superior medical service and low death rates, Americans are not enjoying as good health as might be expected in this country."

One prime reason, the commission said, was that people in low-income groups can't afford adequate medical care—even on present prepayment plans.

The commission, whose forma-

MORE STEEL IS ALLOTTED FOR CIVILIAN GOODS

WASHINGTON (P)—Makers of automobiles and other civilian goods raised their production goals for the second quarter of 1953 today, on the basis of government assurance they will have more steel than at any time since the Korean War began.

The Defense Production Administration (DPA) authorized them late yesterday to use steel up to 70 per cent of their pre-Korean rate. This is about 16 per cent more than for the third quarter of 1952, the previous high since the government began rationing scarce materials to assure adequate supplies for defense.

Aluminum producers weighed, meanwhile, a conditional government offer for a ceiling price increase of one-half cent a pound on primary aluminum pig and ingot and 4 per cent on fabricated aluminum products.

Two Still Scarce Defense Mobilizer Henry Fowler tied the proposed increase to a provision that the Big Three producers agree to certain changes in their contracts with the government, among them the deletion of the right of the government or the companies to cancel contracts for aluminum before they run their full five years. Fowler's proposal was made in identical letters to the Aluminum Company of America, the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp. and the Reynolds Metals Company. He asked immediate replies.

The companies got a bigger increase last August, but they said it wasn't enough to meet their expansion programs and asked Fowler for another hike.

The DPA allotments of controlled materials for the April-May-June quarter of 1953 made no change in the rate of use of copper and aluminum. The agency said these metals still are scarce. Copper use will continue at 50 per cent of pre-Korea levels and aluminum at 55 per cent.

FAIL TO INDICT IN MURDER CASE

HARRISBURG (P)—State officials today have under consideration a new public health plumbing law which would guarantee sanitary facilities and good drainage throughout the state.

The proposed statute was studied this week at a meeting of representatives of organized business and labor, municipal associations and professional groups.

The proposed law would list requirements government plumbing and house and building drainage in all cities, towns, boroughs and townships of the commonwealth.

Dr. Russell E. Teague, state health secretary, said that such a law would be based on a home rule principle with maintenance of the standards up to individual municipalities.

Attending a conference to discuss the law with Teague were J. R. Hoffert, chief engineer of the department's Bureau of Sanitary Engineering; Leslie C. Thelerman, executive vice president of the Pennsylvania Association of Master Plumbers, Inc.; Dr. C. L. Palmieri, Pennsylvania State Medical Society; Lew R. Hotchkiss, Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association; and Foster C. Hillegass, Pennsylvania State Association of County Commissioners.

The group decided further study was necessary before a bill was prepared for submission to the 1953 Assembly.

MUSMANNO TO SPEAK OUT WHEN IT'S NECESSARY

PITTSBURGH (P)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno, criticized by the Allegheny County Bar Association for what it called political activity, has informed the group he will speak out whenever he feels it his duty despite "the handful of wilful lawyers."

The association recently censured the Pennsylvania Supreme Court jurist for campaigning for election to the lieutenant governorship without resigning from the bench. Musmanno, a Democrat, lost that election but later won a seat on the state's highest court.

Noting he was accused of violating the 28th canon of lawyers, which forbids political activity by sitting judges, Musmanno declared in a statement:

"The purpose behind the canons is salutary but the canons must be interpreted in the light of the constitution and in the light of common sense and in the light of their own language."

Claim Free Speech
"No organization may pass a by-law, regulation or canon that denies to American citizens the right of free speech or any other right available to citizens under the constitution."

"And whenever I deem it my duty to speak as a citizen, entirely unrelated to my duties as a member of the judiciary, I shall speak despite the fulminations of J. Garfield Houston (association leader), A. Musmanno."

HEAD ENGINEER—
Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, Jr., has been named by the Army as new Chief of Army Engineers succeeding Lieut. Gen. Lewis A. Pick who is retiring.

his biased committee and the handful of wilful lawyers applauding from the muddy shores of their own particular prejudices."

Other judges, all members of the Allegheny County courts, were also criticized by the association on similar grounds. Musmanno said criticism of them was "a smoke screen behind which to maneuver the heavy artillery to train on Michael A. Musmanno."

SICILIAN SETS UP RESTAURANT FAR FROM HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

EDITOR'S NOTE: This story was written by Nancy Lowe Gray, a reporter for the Worcester, Mass. Evening Gazette, who is now on a trip to Japan.)

By NANCY LOWE GRAY
TAKARAZUKA, Japan (P)—There is an Italian restaurant in this village... what's more, it is run by a real Sicilian. American servicemen taste Abela Orazio's tasty pizza and spaghetti and meatballs and come back for seconds. He is a find for all Americans in this area.

World War II, and a chain of intriguing events, transported Orazio here in 1941. His life, although tragic, has turned surprisingly successful.

The small, friendly Sicilian was serving as quartermaster on board an Italian Merchant Marine ship, when Italy surrendered. The Ramb II was off the coast of Africa, when news of Italy's defeat reached her. Orazio and 124 other men, headed by the ship's master, Pasquale Mazella, escaped through the Arden Straits.

A month later, the 3,500-ton vessel docked in Kobe, Japan. Here, the ship sought refuge.

Precarious Life
For 22 months, the officers and men of the Ramb lived on board ship outside the breakwater of Kobe harbor. Financial aid came to the escapees from the Italian Ambassador. However funds were low and life aboard the Ramb turned sour. Occasionally, the vessel visited other ports, but everywhere times were troubled, and the situation for all on board grew worse.

In the fall of 1943, Capt. Mazella returned to Kobe Harbor and gave orders for his men to scuttle the ship. This was done inside the harbor. The incident infuriated the Japanese. Officers and members of the crew were called traitor, and all became prisoners of war.

Orazio and his fellow Italians were interned for a year in a prison camp near Kobe. He recalls that many Americans and "trench from Indo-China" were there.

"However," he said, "we never were allowed to speak to them. Those who did found death the penalty."

In late August of 1944, Orazio and 50 other Italians were separated from the rest and put on a ship bound for Formosa.

"We were to go there and work as prisoners," he said, "but the day we arrived, the Americans took Manila."

Under American Attack
The ship carrying Orazio and the other prisoners was bombed shortly after its arrival in Takao Harbor.

"Such an attack I never have seen," said Orazio. "Four thousand planes bombed that day. Six hundred passed over every minute. Our vessel was cut into three pieces."

Orazio and two Italinas were the only survivors. Although badly wounded, they swam to shore. The Sicilian's right arm, side and leg were badly burned and bleeding.

On shore, the men still fared poorly. Panic-stricken Formosans and Japanese thought the Italians were American paratroopers. The three wounded men would have been executed except for the aid of an interpreter, who finally identified them.

After six months of hospitalization in Formosa, they were shipped back to Japan and interned. American Occupation Forces gave Orazio a job cooking for the U. S. Army. For the first time in nearly five years, he had clean clothes and good food. In two years he saved enough money for a private business enterprise.

Election Complaint May Go To Congress

WASHINGTON (P)—Final action on a complaint filed over the election of Republican Louis E. Graham from Pennsylvania's 25th Congressional District may be left up to the new GOP-controlled Congress.

The complaint — charging the had only one table. The thrifty refugee sold soft drinks and tea. The Americans urged him to serve Italian fare.

"They tell me," he said "Luigi, make the pizza... Tony, what's the matter you no make spaghetti?" Orazio listened to his American friends. His flair for cooking paid off. Today, his restaurant "Abela's" seats 50 persons. Red wine and steaming dishes of spaghetti attract American and Japanese trade.

Orazio now dreams of someday going to America. He hopes to open a restaurant there with a friend, also a survivor of the Formosa bombing. "His name is Milo Ciechinski," said Orazio, "and the lucky fellow now works as a cook in New York."

Frank M. Clark was founded on error, negligence and perhaps fraud—was referred to the regular Committee on House Administration by a special house committee yesterday.

Democratic Chairman Theodore Gurnett of Lawrence County filed the complaint, which contended that a shift of two votes in each election district of the 25th would have been sufficient to make Clark the winner.

With the current Congress nearing an end, the special House group's action had the effect of leaving any further steps to the new Congress which convenes Jan. 3. A committee aide said the Lawrence County group merely submitted information to the committee and made no request for a recount.

TO REORGANIZE FOREST, WATERS DEPT. BY DEC. 31

HARRISBURG (AP)—An expected but previously unannounced reorganization of the Department of Forests and Waters neared completion today.

Secretary Samuel S. Lewis, known to have been working on the plan for some time, Tuesday disclosed intentions of abolishing three bureaus within his department by Dec. 31.

Lewis said he had the approval of Gov. John S. Fine to do away with the Bureau of Waters, headed by R. J. Gillis; the Bureau of Forests, headed by O. Ben Gipple, and the Bureau of Parks, headed by Walter L. Wirth.

Under the reorganization, Gillis, who also has served as chief deputy to Lewis, will continue as deputy secretary in charge of waters at a salary of $10,000 a year.

Ralph Wible, Bloomsburg, also a deputy, will continue as deputy secretary in charge of forests and recreation. His salary is $9,324.

Abolish Two Posts
The posts now held by Gipple and Wirth will be abolished. Gipple, with the department 25 years, is paid $7,590. Wirth, who came to the department from Missouri a few years ago, is paid $7,302.

Lewis announced the reorganization in a statement criticizing the latest report of the State Government Survey Committee. The committee, headed by Francis J. Chesterman, Philadelphia, recommended consolidation of the Forests and Waters Department with the State Fish and Game Commissions into one department of conservation.

The committee, selected by Gov. Fine to suggest economies in state government, declared that the merger of three agencies could "save the commonwealth a million dollars each biennium by eliminating duplication of facilities, manpower and services."

Eliminate Overlapping
"It is quite apparent that the Chesterman committee has had no recent contact with the Department of Forests and Waters," Lewis said.

The secretary said the new setup in itself will "eliminate overlapping of functions, duplications of work and unnecessary equipment, personnel and field offices; thus resulting in a more efficient and economical administration of the department."

Lewis added that he could not speak for the Game and Fish Commissions since he has "no knowledge whatever of the budgetary or administrative policy of either."

C. A. French, executive director of the Fish Commission, refrained from commenting on the committee report. Thomas D. Frye, Game Commission executive director, could not be reached.

9 Offices Abolished
Lewis said that had the Chesterman committee made inquiry, it would have learned that "five regional forest offices and the four regional park offices referred to by it had been or will be abolished on or before Dec. 31."

"They would also have ascertained that the district forest offices are scheduled for reduction in number and the Bureaus of Forests Parks and Waters will also be abolished," he added.

Lewis said the reorganization will bring about a "closer, more direct and more efficient relationship between the Harrisburg office and the field work."

"After this reorganization is affected," he said, "I am quite positive that with possibly very few exceptions, it will meet with the approval of all parties."

Santa and the PIRATES

Lucrece Hudgins Beale

CHAPTER XI Captured

There was nothing to do but turn back and rescue Patrick Tweedleknives from the island where he had been left behind.

No longer did the crew sing. Santa stood with anxious face at the wheel and turned the ship about. The Prince stared grimly across the dark seas.

All knew they faced two terrible dangers, the pirates and the loss of the Merry Christmas. It was deep in the night now and by noon on the morrow the ship would lose its magic power and become again a bath tub toy.

Fearfully they sped through the night. At dawn they spied the island. At anchor near the island, lay the pirate ship flying the Skull and Crossbones.

But no shot was fired from the pirate ship. Closer and closer moved the Merry Christmas. Still there was not a sign of life from Captain Longhair and his men.

"Drop anchor," said Santa. "The pirates are probably ashore."

"What will we do?" asked Horace.

"The Prince and I will hunt for Tweedleknives," said Santa. "The rest of your stay and guard the ship."

Santa and the Prince went ashore. Soundlessly they crept through the woods until they neared the spot where the treasure had been buried. Presently they heard angry voices. They peeped through the bushes.

There was the whole pirate crew and tied to a tree was Tweedleknives himself.

Captain Longhair stood twirling his long red bangs through his fingers.

"Where did you get my treasure map?" asked the Captain.

"I found it in my Christmas stocking," snapped Tweedleknives.

"I know the Prince stole the map!" shouted Longhair angrily.

"I want to know how you got it and who owns the ship that carried my treasure away."

"Well, I won't tell you," growled

Tweedleknives.

"We will make you tell," said Longhair. "Men, lay a fire around his feet. When he begins to burn he will tell."

In the bushes Santa whispered to the Prince. The Santa crept around into the woods on the other side of the clearing. Just as the fire was started at Tweedleknives' feet Santa called from the woods.

"Here I am! I'm the one who stole the treasure!"

Captain Longhair sprang forward. "After him!" he shouted. He rushed into the woods followed by all his men. When they had gone Prince Jonathan ran into the clearing. He stamped out the fire. He untied the ropes that held Tweedleknives.

"Run!" whispered the Prince.

*But poor Patrick had been tied up so long his legs refused to work. When he tried to run he fell to the ground.

The Prince could hear the pirates shouting in the woods. Soon they would be back. He lifted Tweedleknives onto his back and ran towards the ship.

"What about Santa?" asked Tweedleknives.

"He'll outrun them," panted the Prince. "We'll all be safe in a few minutes."

But alas! the Prince was wrong. For as he burst onto the beach he run right into the arms of Captain Longhair himself!

The Captain gripped Prince and the brownie by their arms. "Ha!" he cried. "I suspected just such a trick. Now my men will wait for your friends."

PROBERS HEAR ABOUT BRIBE

NEW YORK (AP)—A detective told the New York State Crime Commission Wednesday he rejected a bribe offered by a member of the AFL International Longshoremen's Association to "lay off the boys" on the Jersey City waterfront.

Jersey City Det. John Waldron said the bribe was offered him in November, 1951, by a man named Johnnie Alu. The bribe—starting with $10,000 for three Jersey City detectives—was intended to put 10 policemen on a stevedoring firm's payroll, Waldron testified.

Waldron took the witness stand as the crime commission's probe of racketeering in the world's largest port kept its spotlight focused on Jersey City for the second day.

Waldron identified Alu as a member of Local 824 of the I.L.A. Alu made the offer to three detectives when the police were hunting clues to a bombing on the Jersey City

They had not long to wait. In another moment Santa, too, came out of the woods and was captured by the pirates.

Then Captain Longhair called out to the Santa Land folk on the Merry Christmas: "Surrender your ship or it will be the end of Santa Claus!"

There was nothing the little brownies could do but surrender. The pirates boarded the ship and the precious treasure of gold and jewels was once more in pirate hands.

SEEK URANIUM IN POCONOS

MAUCH CHUNG, Pa. (P)—Atomic energy commission experts are eyeing the Pocono Plateau in Northeastern Pennsylvania as a possible source of uranium, says the president of Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co.

Robert V. White, president of the firm which has extensive coal land holdings in this region, said his own company already has plans in operation to dig a pilot shaft near here to determine whether a larger uranium mining operation is feasible. Although early tests are inconclusive, White said, AEC men were

KIMBALL LAYS KEEL OF NAVY'S NEW FLATTOP

NEW YORK (P)—The Navy officially marked the beginning today of its second 60,000-ton carrier—accompanying it with the hope Congress will permit building of still others, powered by atomic engines.

Secretary of the Navy Kimball expressed that hope in an address prepared for the ceremonial keel laying of the big flattop Saratoga, a sister ship of the USS Forrestal which has been building since last July.

"We need to build at least one a year until we have a total of 10," Kimball said in the ceremony at the Navy's Brooklyn Yard, where the keel plate of the Saratoga awaited his signature to signal formal start of work on the ship.

Wants 10 Carriers
Kimball earlier had begun an intensive campaign of speeches and testimony before congressional committees for a 10-ship fleet of the ships. The Navy argues the flush-deck ships, with heavy flight decks and elevators, are needed urgently to handle, launch and recover the long range, swift and multi-ton jet fighters and bombers already coming into operation and others in the design stage.

The Saratoga will be much like her sister ship Forrestal in everything except speed.

Overall length 1,040 feet; 252 foot width; displacement (presumably without full fuel and plane load) slightly under 60,000 tons; plane capacity of more than 100 aircraft, depending upon the types used at any one time.

To Be Speedier
But boilers with higher steam pressure probably will make the Saratoga faster than the prototype Forrestal.

Atomic-powered carriers would use engines being developed from tests with two nuclear-powered submarines now being built. Such a power plant would have various advantages including higher speed, almost unlimited cruising range and a huge saving in space.

The Navy estimates the Saratoga's cost at $209,700,000, about eight millions under that of the Forrestal.

He said he did not know the exact locations of test drillings planned by the AEC. White stressed that his company does not expect to find an unusually large amount of uranium in the Mauch Chunk area.

JUST RIGHT FOR HERMAN — Herman Hickman, football coach and television commentator, and his wife hide from sun in frolic under giant straw hat on San Juan, P.R., beach.

Obviously reflecting the Navy argument that carrier-based aviation is of equal, not secondary importance to the Air Force's bomber and fighter units, Kimball asserted that:

"Our future safety and the course of world history will depend largely on the speed with which we can get these new large carriers built and in commission."

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (P)—The single copy price of the Williamsport Sun and the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin has been raised to six cents.

The Sun-Gazette Co., publishers of both daily newspapers, said the one-cent increase, effective last Monday, was the first in four years. Yearly subscription rates will go up from $12 to $15 January 15.

WHEN GARDENIA TROUBLES COME

So long as house plant growers insist on trying to grow the somewhat fussy gardenia under normal living room conditions, advice on care and particularly on how to avoid failure will be in order. Below are offered several brief suggestions about common cultural problems and their solutions.

Three main factors are involved in requirements of this tender shrub, which, if they are overlooked or neglected, are likely to result in falling flower buds and yellowing, falling leaves. These, in fact, are the end-result of almost all gardenia problems.

This tropical plant requires a fairly high temperature and at the same time moist air. In a greenhouse this demand is easily met. But in an average living room high temperatures usually mean dry air. Steam and hot-water furnace heat is best; stove and hot-air furnace heat is likely to prove least beneficial.

Next, gardenias need plenty of light but at the same time the foliage must be protected from the drying effects of too much direct sun when the rays are hot. Along with uniform light must prevail good ventilation.

Then the third requirement, closely related to foliage vigor, is soil acidity. Frequently in diagnosing gardenia ills where chlorosis (loss of dark green coloring from leaves) was found, soils are alkaline. Many authorities believe that the loss of leaf coloring in this case is the direct result of iron deficiency, the plant being unable to assimilate iron from the soil where alkalinity interferes.

Occasionally chlorosis may result from cold soil. It seems likely that gardenias resent a soil temperature below 70 degrees. When night temperatures drop into the upper or middle 60s as is probable under most household conditions, the cold soil may in some manner lead to loss of leaf coloring.

Alkalinity usually follows continued feeding with certain plant foods which reduce acidity. The use of cottonseed meal as a fertilizer or a light dosage of fine sulphur or aluminum sulfate will aid in holding the soil reaction on the acid side. Too, using woods soil, leafmold from an old hardwood forest floor, will contribute to satisfactory acidity.

But growers should not lightly diagnose all yellowing of leaves as chlorosis or attribute to cold soils or excessive alkalinity. Few other house plants are more susceptible to mealy bug attacks than gardenias. Often this sap-sucking pest infests and injures the leaves by feeding on the under sides without the grower's faintest suspicion. Frequent and careful inspection followed by prompt and effective combat must be stressed. Nicotine sulfate (Black Leaf 40) as a spray is soapy water is recommended, applies to the individual insects are liberally coated.

To get started with gardenias, buy one or more partly grown plants from a local florist or nursery. Old plants, after their flowers fade and foliage drops, may be stored in a dark cellar or branches used as cuttings to grow additional new plants. It is rarely advisable to hold the old specimen over.

After flower buds appear begin feeding the plant liberally by working pulverized weathered cattle manure into the soil or by applying manure water every ten days along with a small feeding of a half-and-half mixture of cottonseed meal and ammonium sulfate. Plenty of moisture should be supplied without soil soggy at any time.

CHRISTMAS WITHOUT WASTE

If measures to reduce evergreen waste at Christmas time required restrictions on holiday enjoyment, particularly for children, we should not likely make the recommendations offered here to curtail the widespread destruction of trees for this purpose. But contrary to this possibility, most families may actually increase the season's joys and at the same time avoid much of the wanton waste that now attends our Yule celebrations.

Unnumbered tons of evergreens find their way unused to city garbage dumps after every Christmas. Other and perhaps larger quantities are needlessly sacrificed for decorations which could sensibly be omitted. How to curb this annual heavy drain from our dwindling timber resources is truly a task of nationwide proportions. Here we wish to examine simple means by which most urban and rural families may have a wonderful Christmas and yet not sacrifice anything — in fact, actually enhance the little factors that go to make up a well-rounded program of enjoyment.

This refers to a live indoor evergreen tree. It includes the plan of moving the tree, after it has fully served Santa Claus, to a site in the lawn and thereby gain for the home grounds another attractive shrub. Thus much is gained; nothing is lost. Even if saving of forest resources and obtaining another permanent evergreen shrub are not considered, having a fragrant live tree indoors for Christmas is well worth the efforts.

Steps toward this goal are approximately threefold in number and scope: (1) Procuring and safeguarding the tree before Christmas; (2) Protecting the tree from injury indoors; and (3) Transplanting it later to its permanent growing site.

Preparations for the third or last step should begin first. Before the ground freezes a planting location should be selected where another evergreen of a type suitable for Christmas purposes is needed. There an ample place should be made ready by turning under deeply a liberal quantity of rich loam and compost. The site should then be covered with a heap of dry vegetation and this with an up-turned barrel or box to prevent freezing and wetting.

Next at least a week before Christmas a suitable tree should be purchased from a nursery, one that is carefully burlapped. It should be planted at once in a small tub or other container in which it can be used indoors for its Christmas role. The planting should be done with the same thoroughness as if the plant were being set outdoors for permanent growth. The container should then be placed in a sheltered outdoor nook and the foliage sprayed with a fine mist of water every day and protected from direct winds and sun.

The day before Christmas it may be taken indoors where it is to serve. There it may be treated as an ordinary cut evergreen except the temperature should be held a little lower than normally and the foliage sprayed with a mist of water at least twice a day. Until the family has once enjoyed the full fragrance of a live Christmas tree indoors they cannot appreciate the treat that is in store for them.

Do not keep the tree indoors longer after Christmas than is necessary, although two or three days are not hazardous. Then it should be shifted to its pre-prepared site and planted firmly without further disturbing the roots. Anchoring to prevent swaying and an occasional spraying of the foliage with water in mist form should insure continued growth.

NOTES ON SHADE TREE PLANTING

Deciduous trees (those that shed their leaves in the fall) should be planted or transplanted only while they are completely dormant or between late fall and not later than the first of March. This work may be done safely over winter any time when the ground is not frozen and the soil otherwise permits handling.

There is an easy tendency for many urban or suburban residents to go to native forests to obtain trees for their home grounds. Rare indeed is the case where a vigorous, attractive shade tree is obtained by this practice. Faster growth, better health, and certain beauty are insured only by buying well rooted trees from reputable nurseries.

Shade trees are an important investment for human comfort and property appearance. Depending on size, age, kind, health, and shape, shade trees add from $500 to $4,000 to the intrinsic value of a dwelling. Treeless home grounds cannot be attractive. And of course, they are no comfortably enjoyable. Few are the residences where at least one more shade tree is not needed.

In choosing species and varieties it is becoming more and more necessary every year to place greater emphasis on likelihood of disease resistance. For examples, the favorite elm is apparently doomed. Oak wilt is gradually moving eastward from the Mississippi and Ohio valleys. The editor will be glad to discuss this important point with readers who write him.

Shade trees by inheritance belong to the moist, deep, fertile, well drained loams of dense forests. Sites in lawns or along streets or highways are unfriendly and unfavorable at their best. Therefore, preparations, planting and subsequent care should aim toward minimizing these weakening factors.
